WHOLE FLEET OF STEAMERS NEARBY

They Were Prevented From Aiding The Titanic By a Field of Ice.

INCORRECT POSITION GIVEN

Captain Moore, of the Mount Temple, Declares This Was Fatal Mistake Made by the Ill-Fated White Star Liner.

Washington, April 27.—Failure to give her exact position, a field of floating ice that offered a well nigh impossible barrier to ships hurrying to the rescue and the mistake of her own captain in rushing at top speed through an ice covered sea—all these combined to send the Titanic and her 1,600 victims to their graves in the North Atlantic. This was strongly indicated today in testimony before the Senate committee investigating the ocean tragedy.

Capt. James H. Moore, of the steamer Mount Temple, which was hurried to the Titanic in response to wireless calls for help, told of the great stretch of field ice which held him off. Within his view from the bridge, he discerned, he said, another strange steamer, probably a "tramp", and a schooner, which was making her way out of the ice. The lights of this schooner he thought probably were those seen by the anxious survivors of the Titanic and which they were frantically trying to reach.

Capt. Moore denounced as "most unwise," the action of the Titanic's commander in rushing at 21 knots through the night when he had been advised of the proximity of ice. The Mount Temple's commander testified that he had spent 27 years in the North Atlantic. Whenever ice was around, he said, he doubled his watch and reduced speed and if he happened to get caught in an ice pack he stopped his engines and drifted until he was clear.

The witness also was emphatic in his declaration that the position sent out by the Titanic was wrong. He said the ship was eight miles further eastward than its operators reported. This, he declared, he proved by observations taken the first thing on the day following the disaster.

With what virtually was a fleet of steamers within a radius of 50 miles of the Titanic, the officer said that this mistake in fixing accurately the position of the doomed ship was a fatal one. With icebergs and floating ice covering the Northern sea, a ship of even the size of the Titanic might well be overlooked through such a variance.

J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine Company, was much cheered by the testimony of the afternoon. Throughout the week he has had a troubled look and during the long daily sessions he has sat silent, seldom speaking to his associate who accompanied him. Today, however, he listened eagerly to the accounts of his conduct at the life boats as told by the stewards and seamen who came in contact with him the night of the disaster. His eyes fairly beamed when Steward Crawford told how he had called for women to go in one of the boats and had said to a woman who told him she was a stewardess "you are a woman, take your place in the boat."

Ismay listened intently too, as Steward Bright testified that he had not left the ship until after all the large life boats had gone and only one of two collapsible boats were left on deck. Bright had seen Ismay working with the others on the starboard collapsible boat, the last to leave the ship from that side. Bright, who left on the very last boat, the port collapsible, said he knew Ismay had not left the ship until just before the port collapsible was lowered into the water in time to get only a hundred yards from the Titanic before she went down.

After the session was over, the corridor in the Senate office building near the committee room was crowded with anxious sailors of the Titanic who have been at the call of the committee since the rescue ship Carpathia brought them to New York. They were a nervous lot. In fact, they were broke. Not being permitted to leave, they faced the prospect of a Saturday night and Sunday without funds. Most of them were desirous of sending word home. Mr. Ismay knew of their circumstances and asked Senator Smith if something could not be done for them. They are entitled to $4 a day in witness fees and expenses, but no preparation had been made to pay them until they are released.

"If it is too late to get money for the sailormen," Mr. Ismay declared, "I can see that it is advanced."

Finally Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Cornelius found a way to cheer the hearts of the sailors and they were escorted to the capitol in a body and advanced money. This made them a happy lot.

P. A. S. Franklin, vice president of the marine company, left for New York late in the afternoon to return Monday. Mr. Ismay did not leave, though Senator Smith told him he was free to go anywhere he pleased provided he reported in Washington Monday morning.

"I am not going to New York." Mr. Ismay said tonight, "but I am going to rest tomorrow. I'm not going to tell you where, but I will be here Monday morning."

The committee has not yet released any of the British members of the Titanic's crew or officers, though all now have given testimony. Some of them will be recalled next week. Officer Boxhall is still ill here, but probably will be recovered sufficiently to take the stand again next week.

SHERMAN KNOCKS THIRD TERM IDEA

Vice President Says General Grant Was Lured Into Grievous Blunder.

SPOKE AT GRANT DAY DINNER

"Sunny Jim" Said Chicago Convention of 1880 Established Attitude of the People Towards Fathers' Traditions.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 27.—That Gen. U. S. Grant had no further political ambition, but was dragooned into allowing the use of his name for a third term by party leaders, and that the Chicago convention of 1880 clearly established the attitude of the American people toward the traditions of the fathers, was the declaration of the Vice President of the United States, James S. Sherman, who was the principal speaker here tonight at the annual Grant Day banquet of the Americus Republican Club.

The Vice President asserted that Gen. Grant was lured into the grievous blunder of his life, but that devotion to Republican principles prevailed at this convention and the famous hero went down to defeat in the house of his friends.

Grant's opponents never charged that he ever tried to add to the power of the executive and Congress and the judiciary suffered no assault from him, the Vice President declared, yet even for him the precept and example of Washington could not be set aside by the American people.

Besides the Vice President, other speakers were Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, whose topic was "The American Republic," Congressman F. M. Nye, of Minnesota, who spoke on "The Republican Leaders"; and Congressman E. D. Crumpacker, of Indiana, who addressed his remarks to "The Republican Party."

Before the speakers were called J. Denny O'Neill, president of the Americus Club, paid a tribute to Gen. Fred. Dent Grant, and Major Archibald Butt, who were honorary members of the club, and a toast was drunk standing.

AGREE TO ARBITRATION.

Government Officials Will Attempt to Settle Engineers' Differences.

New York, April 27.—Belief that the threatened strike of 28,000 locomotive engineers employed by railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac and Ohio rivers has been served through the mediation efforts of Judge Martin A. Knapp, of the Court of Commerce, and Charles P. Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor, was expressed tonight by participants in the conferences this week, with the government representatives.

The question of arbitration has now been agreed to by both sides, it is said, but with some modification from the original proposal made to the mediators by the railway managers. It is expected that an understanding as to methods of procedure and the number of arbitrators will soon be brought about.

Grand Chief Warren S. Stone, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, conferred with the committee of 50 today and subjects which will be brought to the attention of the mediators on Monday were discussed. Members of the conference committee of railway managers remained in the city, and participated in informal conferences with the executive heads of the railroads at the office of President Brown, of the New York Central. Judge Knapp will spend Sunday in Washington, but will return to New York for the conference with the railway managers.

LAW SOCIETY MEETS

Recommends International Conference To Insure Safety At Sea

Washington, April 27.—An international conference to formulate regulations to diminish the likelihood of the repetition of the Titanic disaster was recommended in resolutions adopted today by the American Society of International Law in session here. Senator Root, of New York, president of the society, was authorized to bring to the attention of the government the action of the organization "as to the great desirability of such an international conference and of the adoption by the United States of such rules as may be formed to insure the safety of travel by sea."

President Taft was re-elected honorary president of the society and Senator Root president. All of the present vice presidents were re-elected and the members of the executive council, whose terms expired this year were chosen to serve until 1915.

ROOSEVELT AGAIN CRITICISES TAFT

The Former President Speaks Before TumultuousThrong at Boston.

RECEIVES A GREK WELCOME

Teddy Declares He is More Fortunate in His Friends Than Mr. Taft, and is Willing for His Record to be Searched.

Boston, Mass., April 27.—Boston gave Col. Roosevelt tonight the most demonstrative welcome he has seen since beginning his campaign for the Presidential nomination. Speaking in the Arena before a tumultuous throng, the former President again criticised Mr. Taft. He, however, did not repeat the severe denunciation which marked his speech at Worcester last night. He spoke calmly, and devoted only a small part of his address to President Taft.

"I do not wish this to be a campaign of personalities between Mr. Taft and myself," said Col. Roosevelt. "Last night I felt compelled to answer Mr. Taft at length. Tonight I shall refer to him only as I feel that I must.

"I am more fortunate than Mr. Taft in my friends. When Mr. Taft came here Thursday he came here having lost Illinois. I came here having lost New Hampshire. In Illinois Mr. Taft's chief lieutenant had been Mr. Lorimer. In New Hampshire my chief lieutenant was Governor Bass. Mr. Taft came here to explain that he did not like Mr. Lorimer, having kept his dislike private and confidential until after he lost Illinois. I came here and say that win or lose, I am with Governor Bass."

Holding up a sheet of paper, Col. Roosevelt said: "I have got two parallel columns here, in one are my chief supporters, in the other Mr. Taft's."

Among his own supporters the colonel mentioned the Western Governors who asked him to run, and Gifford Pinchot.

"Where's Perkins?" some one in the crowd shouted. "He's for me," the colonel called back. "You can't put a question to me that will embarrass for a moment. You can search my record and you will find that I never have done, and I never will do, for Mr. Perkins or any other human being, one thing I won't tell you in detail."

As representing Mr. Taft's supporters he named amid hisses from crowd Senators Lorimer, Penrose, Guggenheim and Gallinger. You can judge for yourself on whose side the bosses are, he went on. "Mr. Taft says I have accepted the support of bosses, so I have, when they went my way. But they had to go my way, or we parted company."

Colonel Roosevelt then turned to a defense of his position in regard to the courts, repeating the arguments which he has made throughout the campaign.

The crowd gathered near the Arena was so large that the police reinforcements had to be called to handle it. The Arena has seats for 8,000 persons and nearly two hours before Colonel Roosevelt arrived the police barred the doors.

Before Colonel Roosevelt arrived a body of men in the middle of the Arena began to chant, "We want Taft," "We want Taft."

The people rose to their feet with a shout and for a few moments the hall was in confusion.

Colonel Roosevelt spoke from a roped enclosure which is used as a prize ring. It is the platform from which President Taft spoke two nights ago. The colonel said he wanted the hearers to support him at the polls next Tuesday, "Not because the fight is easy but because it is hard."

Later Colonel Roosevelt went to Mechanics Hall, where he addressed an overflow meeting.

Colonel Roosevelt addressed half a dozen crowds on his trip over the eastern end of the State today. He confined himself mainly to the arguments which he has used throughout his campaign. Not once during the trip did he mention President Taft's name. A train load of the colonel's lieutenants set forth with him from Boston this morning.

PENNSYLVANIA WON MEET.

Took Two Blue Ribbons in Relay Races—Other Events.

Philadelphia, April 27.—The University of Pennsylvania won two of three blue ribbon events at the annual relay races here this afternoon, and Syracuse University took the other one. The two and four mile relay championships of America were captured by the Philadelphia institution after a hard struggle and the one mile National championship was won by Syracuse after Ridpath, her fast quarter miler, had extended himself to the limit to beat out Sanders, of Illinois. Some of the best quarter mile men in college were in the event. Both of Pennsylvania's victories were also hard won, her runners having to extend themselves right up to the tape.

A feature of the afternoon was the performance of A. L. Gutterson, of Vermont University, who won the broad jump by leaping 24 feet and five-eighths of an inch from a muddy take-off. It is probable that he will be a strong contender for a place on the American Olympic team.

HALIFAX IS READY TO RECEIVE DEAD

Bodies of Titanic Victims Expectected Monday on the Mackay-Bennett.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS MADE

Identified Dead and Such as Astor and Hays Will Be Placed In Coffins And Hurried Away on Special Car

Halifax, N. S., April 27.—Under a leaden sky from which a drizzling rain descended, Halifax went grimly forward today with final arrangements for receiving the Titanic's dead expected Monday on the cableship Mackay-Bennett. The so-called dockyard, otherwise a Dominion navy yard, has been reserved by the White Star Line for the unloading of the bodies, and upon a stretch of pier ordinarily used for coaling, all that remains of John Jacob Astor, Isidor Straus, Frank D. Millett, George D. Widener and many others will be placed in coffins for the inspection of relatives.

Five tents to shield the dead have been erected on the pier, more than 200 pine coffins are piled nearby, and 20 wagons have been engaged to transport the bodies from the water front to the morgue established in a curling rink.

The identified dead and such men as Colonel Astor, Mr. Straus, President Hays, of the Grand Trunk, and others will be taken directly to an undertaking shop, there to be placed in coffins and hurried from town by special car. The unidentified will go to the morgue to remain until claimed, or a fortnight has passed, to be buried in cemetery plots here which the steamship company has provided.

The dock yard rests on a secluded terrace in the upper end of Halifax, and is surrounded by a high brick wall. Sentries and police will guard the entrances and none but those with bodies to claim will be admitted.

Local agents of the White Star Line issued a statement which follows in part:

"The Mackay-Bennett will probably arrive sometime Monday and will be tied up at the government docks, but as it will serve no good purpose to be present, friends are earnestly urged in their own interest not to visit the dock. It will probably interfere with the prompt accomplishment of the very purpose they are here for.

"Through the courtesy of the American consul here, arrangements have been made to suspend the regulations governing the transfer of bodies to the United States, but friends must be careful to advise us how they are going, so that the officers at the port of entry may be suitably advised."

TAFT PAYS HONOR TO GRANT

President Eulogizes Major General And His Famous Father—Plays Golf at Newark—Given Reception at Trenton

Philadelphia, April 27.—President Taft paid honor again tonight to the memory of the illustrious family of Grant. In New York yesterday he attended memorial exercises for Major General Frederick D. Grant, and tonight at a banquet of the Union League Club he eulogized that soldier's famous father, who was twice President of the United States and to whom many historians give much of the credit for the North's successful conduct of the Civil War.

The President's familiarity with General Grant's career and deeds made the subject an easy one for him to deal with and he reviewed with friendly hand the life of one of this Nation's greatest soldiers. Mr. Taft aimed to make his address without a tinge of politics and carefully planned to avoid any discussion of current topics. Governor Tener, of Pennsylvania; Mayor Blankenburg, and C. Stuart Patterson, of Philadelphia, were the other speakers on the programme.

President Taft came to Philadelphia from Trenton, N. J., by special train. From the Broad Street station he was escorted immediately to the Union League Club, where he dedicated that club's new assembly hall; held a reception for members and reviewed the first brigade, Pennsylvania National Guard. Leaving here late tonight he is due in Washington early tomorrow.

Reception at Trenton

Trenton, N. J., April 27.—President Taft upon his arrival here this afternoon from Newark, was given a reception by the William H. Taft Association of this city, at the Republican Club, and a large number of persons met and shook hands with the President.

Plays A Foursome

Newark, N. J., April 27.—President Taft laid aside his political clothes, put on an old gray cap and a sweater and relieved his feelings by knocking a golf ball around the course today at the Baltusrol Golf Club near Orange. He played a foursome with A. D. Chandler as his partner, and Colonel George Harvey and T. W. Webb for opponents. The game lasted 16 holes, and the Taft forces won.

ROOSEVELT GETS ROBESON

Delegation to State Convention Instructed for Him—Drainage Suit

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., April 27.—The Republican county convention was held here today for the purpose of appointing delegates to the State and Congressional conventions. When the convention was called to order there were 42 people in the house, several of whom were Democrats. Representatives were present from 15 of the 21 townships, though delegates were present from only about half the townships. The 12 delegates to the State convention were instructed for Roosevelt.

After hearing all the evidence in the damage suit instituted by Jetter Williamson against Dr. N. A. Thompson and the Thompson Hospital, Judge Peebles ordered the case non-suited at Whiteville this week.

New York, April 27.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $19,703,55$ reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $2,403,600 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

OROZCO MAKES PROCLAMATION

Mexican Rebel Leader Paves Way for Recognition by American Government—Declares He Does Not Want Intervention.

Washington, April 27.—Paving the way for a more formal demand for the recognition by the American government of the belligerency of Mexican revolutionists, Manuel Lujan, one of the little junta representing Orozco and now in Washington, submitted to the State Department today a signed copy of a proclamation issued by their leader addressed, "On behalf of the revolutionary party to all the people of the republic of Mexico and its foreign colonies."

In this pronouncement Orozco declares the objects of his party to be a complete recognition of the principles of the Mexican constitution and establishment of law and order, which the Madero government has failed to achieve. Stress is laid upon the charge that at present the lives and property of Mexicans, as well as of foreigners, are in jeopardy; that through acts of violence Mexico has lost moral and financial prestige and "provoked the determination of the part of the United States and other foreign countries to forcibly intervene in behalf of their citizens residing in our midst for the purpose of protecting their lives and property."

Orozco points to the vast amount of foreign capital invested in Mexico, which he pledges himself to protect, as well as to stop all bloodshed and disorder. He declares:

"We do not want intervention; we must not have intervention. We should not permit, therefore, conditions to prevail which in any sense afford a just cause for intervention. The idea of intervention on the part of any foreign government is appalling; it means our ultimate loss of independence; the downfall of our republic, as well as of hundreds of thousands of lives sacrificed and hundreds of millions of dollars of property destroyed."

Orozco refers with pride to the present conditions in the great State of Chihuahua and which he promises soon will prevail in the newly acquired territory of Sinaloa. He condemns destruction of property, looting of the treasury and the provocation of international difficulties. The conduct of Madero is said by Orozco to demonstrate his weakness of character, and willingness to antagonize the well meaning people of the republic.

"He should, therefore, be turned out at the earliest possible moment," continues the proclamation, which winds up with a declaration of the intention of the revolutionary party, after restoring peace, to reorganize the administration and put at the head of the government a man who is the free choice of the people."

FOURTEEN BOUND OVER

Men In Polk County Charged With Burning School Houses

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 27. — State Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young was advised today of the binding over to court of 14 men in Polk county on the charge of conspiracy to burn public school houses. The cases have been worked up by Deputy Commissioner of Insurance F. M. Jordan. There have been quite a number of burnings of school houses reported of late that smacked of incendiarism and a special effort is being made by the Department of Insurance to run down those guilty. Bitter fights over local tax districts or consolidation of districts have given rise to some of them.

NOTABLE PRELATES HERE FOR SERVICE

Dedication of Handsome Cathedral of St. Mary's in This City Today.

CARDINAL GIBBONS PRESIDES

His Eminence and Other Distinguished Visitors Arrived Yesterday—Musical Programme and Other Features of Service.

Attended by the most notable gathering of churchmen ever assembled in Wilmington, St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral, the magnificent new Catholic church in this city, will be formally dedicated this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Bishop Leo Haid, of Belmont, head of the Catholic Church in North Carolina, will officiate at the dedication service and His Eminence, James Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, will preside at Solemn Pontificial Mass, which will be a feature of the exercises.

All preparations have been completed and everything is in readiness for the solemn and beautiful ceremonial. Admission to the morning service is by card, it having been found necessary to limit the admittance to the capacity of the church. It is expected that every seat in the cathedral will be occupied this morning. The card admission applies only to the morning service, and at the vesper service this evening all who attend will be admitted. Bishop O'Connel, of Richmond, will preach the sermon at the vesper service.

Cardinal Gibbons arrived yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in the private car of President T. M. Emerson, of the Atlantic Coast Line. He was accompanied by his secretary, Rev. Father Stickney, Mon. Kieran, of Philadelphia, and Father Doherty, of the Catholic University, Washington, D. C. The distinguished visitor was met at the station by committees from the Knights of Columbus, Hibernian Benevolent Society, the local and visiting clergy, members of the congregation of St. Mary's, with other distinguished men in the public and private life of Wilmington. His Eminence was escorted to the rectory at Fourth and Ann streets, where the Cardinal and the visiting Bishops will be entertained by Rev. Father C. Dennen during their stay in the city. Bishop Haid, Bishop O'Connel and Bishop Northrop, of South Carolina, all arrived yesterday, as did all of the visiting priests who will attend the dedication service. The clergy are being entertained in the homes of the members of the congregation and friends.

Cardinal Gibbons spent a very restful day yesterday after his arrival here. He took several short walks about the city and later in the day enjoyed a ride in an automobile around the city and for a short distance out on the roads of the county. He was accompanied on the automobile trip by Father Felix and Mon. Kieran. His Eminence, in coming to Wilmington, finds the city vastly changed since he was stationed here as Bishop of North Carolina years ago, but he will note no change in the hearts of the many friends who knew him then and who have ever held aim in the highest reverence and esteem, following his career with keen interest. The Cardinal received a number of his friends at the rectory yesterday, and very pleasantly renewed old acquaintances.

Today's Services.

The dedication services will begin promptly at 10:30 o'clock this morning when the procession of clergy and sanctuary boys will leave the rectory and move east on Ann street to the front of the Cathedral, where Bishop Haid will offer the prayer of dedication as prescribed in the ritual of the Church. Upon completion of the prayer the procession will circle the Cathedral, the ministers reciting songs. Returning to the front of the Cathedral the procession will enter and circle the interior of the building, after which the litanys will be chanted by the priests. The ritual of the Church prescribes that only the clergy taking part in the ceremony shall be in the building during the dedication, but upon the conclusion of the formal exercises the doors of the Cathedral will be opened and the congregation and guests will be seated. Cardinal Gibbons will occupy the throne of honor and Bishop Haid will be seated on the throne opposite. Cardinal Gibbons will bless the new building and pontificate and preach the dedicatory sermon. Bishop Northrop, of South Carolina, formerly vicar apostolic of North Carolina, will be the celebrant of the Mass.

The musical programme which has been arranged to make the occasion complete, will be one of the most interesting ever rendered in the city. It is as follows:

Mass—"Zangels Mass" in honor of Pope Lea XIII, "Veni Criator," Millands, by quartette.

Gregorian Vespers—"Regina Colli", Gunod, "Tantum Ergo" Vur Dusser.

O'Salutaris Solo—Mrs. E. K. Bryan.

Benediction.

Hymn—"Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Mr. James Owen Reilly is organist and members of the choir are as follows: Sopranos—Mrs. E. K. Bryan, Mrs. J. H. Watters, Miss Nellie Cor-

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 27.—With the most perfectly balanced team entered in the meet and with its members all exhibiting the most careful training, the University of North Carolina had no trouble at all in capturing the annual State inter-collegiate track meet on the A. & M. COAST LINE LADS WON OUT

Local Team Defeated Soldier Boys From Fort Caswell Yesterday Afternoon at League Park —Score 5 to 0.

A small assemblage of faithful baseball enthusiasts were treated to one of the best exhibitions of the nation pastime seen in this city in months yesterday afternoon at League Park when the Atlantic Coast Line Athletic Association team defeated the soldier team from Fort Caswell by the score of 5 to 0. In spite of the one-sided score the game was first-class in every respect and at various stages drew bursts of enthusiastic applause from the interested spectators.

In the seventh panel, when Suwalski started things with a smashing two-bagger to center field and there seemed a probability that the soldiers would draw up on the Railroaders, beldam broke loose for awhile, even the Wilmingtonians joining in rooting for the men from the fort.

Aside from an error by Medlin in the fifth, when that player missed Starritt's long hit to center field after a long run and a valiant effort to capture the flying sphere, the game was without misplays. Meldin, by his work in the center garden, was the bright particular star of the game, accepting five chances, one of which, in the eighth, robbed Green of his fourth hit of the contest. The play was made so dexterously and well that Medlin was given a well-deserved burst of applause when he stepped to the plate immediately after.

Green pitched his usual good game, giving no passes, striking out ten opposing batsmen and allowing only four hits. Stevenson, for the Soldiers, seemed a little out of form, passing four men, striking out five and permitting the Railroaders to accumulate ten bingles that were of great value in bringing in the runs.

The Railroaders showed supremacy over their opponents in all departments of the game, their quick team work, ability to hit at necessary times, and skill in base running being of the greatest importance in turning the game in their favor.

First inning: Meldin fanned, McCarthy and Suwalski were quick outs at first. Hines was called out on strikes; Emerson singled to center; Houston was out on an infield fly; Emerson purloined the second station and was advanced to third on Terry's grounder to Brown, Charlie securing the initial sack while an unsuccessful attempt was being made to tag "Skeet" at third. Terry stole second but Duls was out on three good ones.

Second inning: Schafer fanned; Reed singled to center and stole second; Stevenson and Kildow struck out. Starritt and Taylor were easy outs at first and Symmes fanned.

Third inning: Murff and Brown ate humble pie in the smoke to "Pomp's" benders. Medlin singled to right and McCarthy went out by the first base route. For the Railroaders Green sent a hot one past McCarthy. Duls, running for Green, went all the way to third when Hines picked the same hole to fire a line shot through. Hines ambled to second without hindrance and both runners scored when Emerson widened the breach between short and third with the third consecutive single. "Skeet" went down to second and scored from that station when Schafer inadvertently let a speedy one get through him. Houston drew free transportation and Terry sent a skyscraper into Medlin's mitt in center. Houston stole second and Duls was donated a trip to the initial sack. A double steal put Houston on third and Duls on second. Starritt put one up in the air to be captured by Suwalski. Taylor accepted the third gift of the round, but with the bases full Symmes swung at three teasers and wound up the excitement.

Fourth inning: Suwalski and Shafer fanned and Reed gave Symmes credit for a put out in the center garden. Green again opened for the Railroaders with a smash past third, and Duls, again doing the running, annexed the second sack. From there he proceeded to third when Hines sent a safe one to center field, he himself going to second. Emerson was out on a fly to center and Duls crossed the plate on the play, Hines advancing to third. Houston hit to second, who threw to first for the put out, allowing Hines to score. Terry was out on an easy one to McCarthy.

Fifth inning: Stevenson fanned; Kildow went out pitcher to first and Murff gave Emerson an easy chance on a pop fly. Duls fied to left-center, which Meldin tried hard to capture, but fluked after a hard run. Starritt stole second but was caught off the bag by the quick throw of Stevenson. Taylor drew another pass and stole second, going to third on Kildow's bad return of a ball to center. Bergen flied to Kildow.

Sixth inning: Emerson drew the glad hand by making a brilliant stop of Greenup's grounder and throwing him out at first. Medlin and McCarthy were quick outs. Green came across with his third hit of the game and Hines flied to center. Duls, running for Green, stole second and went to third on a bad throw of Stevenson. Emerson hit a line drive to Stevenson, who pulled it out of the ozone and doubled Duls at third.

Seventh inning: Suwalski drew the favor of the stands by slaming the sphere to center for two sacks, and then proceeded to steal third. However, he was caught trying to score on Reed's grounder. Reed was safe on first, but yielded up the ghost at second when Taylor fielded Stevenson's grounder to Emerson. Houston sent a two-bagger into left-center. Terry flied to left and Houston was caught napping on the second sack.

Eighth inning: Kildow, Murf and Greenup were out in short order. Starritt hit a hot one, which bounded off Stevenson's shoulder out of reach of a fielder. Starritt advanced to third on Taylor's sacrifice. Bergen bunted and Starritt was caught at the plate. Bergen stole second and third. Green drove a hard one to center, which Meldin captured after a hard run.

Ninth inning: Medlin was out short to first. McCarthy singled to right, but Swualski and Shafer were easy captures and the game was ended.

bett, Miss Annie Banks, Mrs. J. Hussey, Miss Annie Lockfaw; altos, Miss Margaret Corbett, Mrs. J. Stevenson, Mrs. T. Barber, Miss Mayo and Mrs. Jas. Allen; tenors, Messrs. Robt. Banks, H. Hayden and H. O'Neil; bass, Messrs. H. K. Holden, Frank Banks and Joe Price.

Cardinal Gibbons, during his stay in the city, will be the guest of Major D. O'Connor and ex-Judge E. K. Bryan Monday and Tuesday at their home, No. 11 South Fifth street, and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan have issued invitations to a number of friends to meet His Eminence at their home on Monday evening from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. There will also be a number of other private features of entertainment for Cardinal Gibbons and the distinguished visiting prelates and clergy during their sojourn in this city.

At the vesper service at 8 o'clock Bishop Haid will preside, while the sermon will be preached by Bishop O'Connel, of Richmond. The admission card rule will not prevail at the vesper service and all who can be accommodated will be admitted. It is expected that the capacity of the Cathedral will be more than taxed at this service.

The following from yesterday's issue of the Baltimore Sun, relative to Cardinal Gibbons' visit to Wilmington, will be read with much interest here:

"Cardinal Gibbons left at 7 o'clock last night for Wilmington, N. C., where he will dedicate tomorrow the handsome pro-cathedral recently erected.

"This visit will take the prelate back to the fields of his early labors, for on August 16, 1868, Father Gibbons was consecrated titular bishop of Adramyttum and vicar apostolic of North Carolina. He took up his new work October 30th of that year and went to St. Thomas' Church, then the only sanctuary of the Catholic faith in that Southern State. The following Sunday he was installed. There were about 800 Catholics and three priests in the vicariate at that time. The Cardinal lived in small partitioned quarters in the rear of the church, which is now one of the handsomest buildings of its kind in the South.

"Coming to Baltimore, the Cardinal raised $7,000 and bought additional ground about St. Thomas' Church, and it is on this tract that the new edifice has arisen.

"Arriving in Washington last night, the Cardinal went aboard a special car which was attached to an express train and was taken South. At a solemn high mass tomorrow he will bless the new building and pontificate and preach. He will return home about the middle of next week. Returning to the Old North State will give the prelate an opportunity to express his thanks to those who helped in collecting mementoes of the Cardinal's stay in North Carolina. The members of the colony from that State residing in Baltimore recently presented him a handsome memorial volume in honor of his jubilee."

Sketch of the Cardinal.

Copyright 1910, by Holmes & Bishop, Baltimore, Md.

James Cardinal Gibbons was born in Baltimore, July 23rd, 1834, and the greater part of his life has been spent in that city, and although his ecclesiastic duties have claimed most of his time, he has, nevertheless, closely identified himself with the interest of the city and his influence has been felt in every movement for civic betterment. His simplicity of manner, his unaffected dignity and kindliness has won for him the love and esteem of men and women in every walk of life without regard to their religious affiliations.

His parents, Thomas and Mary Gibbons, migrated from Ireland to the United States in 1829, making their home in the Monumental City. In 1836, when the cardinal was but two years old, his parents returned to Ireland, where the father died shortly after. Remaining in the old country but a short time after the death of her husband, Mrs. Gibbons returned to the United States, but moved to New Orleans, where her son was sent to the public schools and given his early education.

Between the age of 15 and 17 the cardinal clerked in a grocery store, but then he announced his intention of studying for the priesthood. To this end he went to St. Charles college at Ellicott City, Md., from which he was graduated with distinction.

He then entered St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore and was ordained to the priesthood at the cathedral there at the age of 27, receiving his final order on June 30th, 1861. The ordinary ceremony was performed by the late Very Rev. Archbishop Kendrick, and immediately the young priest was assigned as assistant at St. Patrick's church at Baltimore.

Subsequently he was transferred to St. Bridget's church at Canton, Md., but within a short time he was called upon by Archbishop Spalding, then the head of the Catholic Church in America, to act as his private secretary, and to also be the chancellor of the arch-diocese of Baltimore. In 1868, he was made vice-councilor of the plenary council of the Catholic Church a rare distinction for so young a priest.

On August 16th, 1868, Father Gibbons was consecrated in the cathedral as bishop of Adramytum in partibus infidelium and vicar-apostolic of North Carolina. In this very diocese Bishop Gibbons presided for four years, during which time he wrote "The Faith of Opr Fathers," the book having obtained a wide reputation as the most popular work of Catholic authorship ever written in this country.

His work in North Carolina was notable, and without reflection upon his predecessor or successor, it is but fair to say that the work accomplished during his bishopric is unparalleled in the history of the Catholic Church in that State.

He opened a school in which he himself taught, established the Benedictine order in the State, and the Sister of Mercy in Wilmington; erected a dozen churches, ordained more than a dozen priests and received many converts. Through his liberal and considerate conduct he won the admiration of the entire community and Carolinians, from the mountains to the sea were proud of their bishop.

When Bishop McGill died in 1872, Bishop Gibbons was selected to fill the vacant see at Richmond, Va., and on October 20th of that year, he was installed. As in North Carolina, he at once set to work to improve conditions, and in five years he had accomplished wonders. Within that period he had erected five churches, founded and successfully placed in operation St. Peter's Catholic Male Academy, St. Sophia's Home for the Aged, in charge of the Little Sisters of the Poor; a parochial school for boys and girls at St. Petersburg, Va., a school for girls at Portsmouth, Va., while St. Joseph's orphan asylum was enlarged and other institutions were improved. In all of his work the then Bishop Gibbons showed great executive ability that attracted the attention of his superiors, and when Archbishop James Roosevelt Bayley, of Baltimore, found his health failing and requested of Rome a coadjutor he suggested the name of Bishop Gibbons for the place. His suggestion was accepted by Rome and Bishop Gibbons, on May 20th, 1877, was nominated coadjutor with right of succession to the see of Baltimore.

Archbishop Bayley lived but a few months, and on October 3rd, 1877, Bishop Gibbons was elevated to what was then the highest ecclesiastical position of the Catholics in the United States, being made a cardinal of Baltimore, which being the oldest is, consequently, the primary see.

The years of the episcopate of Archbishop Gibbons showed but a repetition on a broader scale of the wonderful executive ability of the man. He was one of the American prelates who went to Rome in the Fall of 1883 to discuss the affairs of the Church in this country and to outline the work for the third plenary council which was to convene the following year. His marked ability drew to him the attention of Pope Leo XIII, who appointed him to preside over the plenary council and otherwise showed him preference.

The council met at Baltimore and Archbishop Gibbons, by his ability to handle a number of delicate situations, which included the making of a number of new church laws, again won the approbation of the Pope, who, to show his appreciation, nominated him for cardinal.

The nomination was promptly confirmed, although both Archbishop Corrigan and Williams had been named as worthy of wearing the red hat and the sees of New York and Boston as suitable for a cardinalate. Baltimore, however, held the primary right, so that Rome had no alternate and Bishop Gibbons was made a prince of the Church.

The new cardinal selected June 30th, 1886, the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood as the day for his formal investiture with the rank and insignia of a member of the sacred college, and the ceremony that the occasion demanded. From Pope Leo XIII, by an embassy, came the following message:

"Present to Cardinal Gibbons our affectionate paternal benediction. We remember him with the most cordial esteem and believe we could not confer the hat upon a more worthy prelate."

Following the ceremonies it was obligatory for the cardinal to visit Rome, and he accordingly sailed for the Holy City on January 29th, 1887, where, on St. Patrick's Day, he received the red hat and the apostolic benediction from the pontiff. While in Rome he was the recipient of many honors and he took part in all the discussions pertaining to the affairs of the church in this country.

Cardinal Gibbons was installed as pastor of his titular church March 27, 1887, the feast day of the annunciation. He was assigned to the Church of Santa Maria, in Trastevere, which is of great antiquity, situated beyond the Tiber on a strip of land environed by the Aurelian wall. It is supposed to be the first church publicly consecrated to divine worship under the patronage of the Mother of Jesus, and is known as a basilica. It was given a cardinal's title years before America was discovered.

Upon Cardinal Gibbons' return to Baltimore on November 10th, 1887, he was given a gigantic reception by people of all classes. On May 24th 1888, he laid the cornerstone of the Catholic University in Washington, and on November 13th, 1889, he delivered the last prayer and benediction at the opening exercises. Of this university he is the chancellor and has always taken keen interest in it. Three days before the dedication of the university Cardinal Gibbons took a conspicuous part in the celebration of the centennial of the Catholic hierarchy of the United States. In the same month he called together the Catholic congress—composed of laymen—the first of its kind ever convened in this country.

Cardinal Gibbons has made a number of trips to Rome, and in 1903, when he went there to attend the funeral of Pope Leo XIII and take part in the election of Pope Pius X, it was rumored that he stood a chance of being made Pope. At any event he made such a good impression that through his good offices the new Pope, on August 6th of that year, received 200 American pilgrims. That was the first reception that the new Pope had held, and it was regarded as remarkable that so many Americans should have been admitted at that time.

The following day Cardinal Gibbons was received in private by Pope Pius X and through him given the apostolic benediction for the people of America.

Cardinal Gibbons has always led an active life and although the weight of his years are bearing him down, he finds the time to attend an enormous number of Church ceremonies in all sections of Baltimore and the surrounding country. On the first of each month he preaches the sermon in the cathedral and each New Year's day he holds a public reception, which is notable because of the hundreds who shake him by the hand many are not of his faith.

For many years he has spent his annual vacations at Southampton, Long Island and along about the time for the carnival at New Orleans he takes a trip to that city not only because he spent his boyhood there, but because his mother is buried in the Materia cemetery there.

The cardinal is a member of a score or more organizations such as the Maryland Society of New York, the North Carolina Society of Baltimore, etc., and he frequently attends public banquets where he speaks a few words, always, however, making it a point to retire early.

During the past year or two the cardinal has confined his visits to his vacation place and to New Orleans, declining to go even to New York, although repeatedly invited. He has officiated at three great expositions, however, offering the opening prayers at the World's Fair and the St. Louis Expositions. He once attended the Jamestown Exposition, offering a prayer there.

Few men have led more regular lives than the cardinal, and to that he attributes his excellent health that has made his life a long and useful one. He lives by the clock, one might almost say, for he has regular periods for eating and sleeping. Each day, if the weather is good, he takes a short walk, and in the business section of the city his figure is a familiar one.

As the head of the Catholic church and as a man Cardinal Gibbons is beloved. He is approachable by even the poorest of his parishioners while he is always ready to receive any one who calls. His charity is boundless, and although a great deal of money has been bequeathed to him, the general impression is that he is a poor man, having given away everything that has been left to him.

Played Two Games Yesterday.

Two interesting games of baseball were played at the Hilton diamond yesterday afternoon between the Wesley Athletics and the Y. M. C. A. Juniors, the former winning both games, the first by the score of 7 to 1, and the latter by the score of 7 to 3. Lewis and Taylor officiated for the Athletics in both games; the batteries for the Juniors in the first game were Davis, Penny and Shepard, and in the second Davis, Shepard and Davis. The attendance, while not large, was enthusiastic and both contests were more enjoyable than the scores would indicate.

"WOMAN'S WORK IS NEVER DONE"

It is the faithful woman in the home, who does the cooking, sweeping, dusting, washing and ironing, ambitious to keep her home as neat as a pin, and often having two or three children who require care and attention, who calls for our sympathy. Overwork is the result. Outraged nature asserts itself in time and female troubles appear.

Such women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the exact medicine they need when their strength is overtaxed and female weakness and derangements make life a burden. For nearly forty years it has been the standard remedy for such troubles.

What's The Matter With Your Baby?

The young mother—and many an old one, too—is often puzzled to know the cause of her child's ill nature. The loudness of its crying does not necessarily indicate the seriousness of its trouble. It may have nothing more the matter with it than a headache or a feeling of general dullness. It cannot, of course, describe its feelings, but as a preliminary measure you are safe in trying a mild laxative.

Nine times out of ten, you will find it is all the child needs, for its restlessness and peevishness are perhaps due to obstruction of the bowels, and once that has been remedied the headache, the sluggishness and the many other evidences of constipation and indigestion will quickly disappear.

Don't give the little one salts, cathartic pills or nasty waters, for these will act as purgatives, and they are too strong for a child. In the families of Mrs. O. R. Crae, Wellford, S. C., and Mrs. Helen Sheetz, La Grange, N. C., the only laxative given is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been found to answer most perfectly all the purposes of a laxative, and its very mildness and freedom from griping recommend it especially for the use of children, women, and old folks generally—people who need a gentle bowel stimulant. Thousands of American families have been enthusiastic about it for more than a quarter of a century.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

No news from China seems to be good news.

Cheer up! You have no political reputation to defend.

Lay on, McDuff. Darned if either have had half enough.

Do everything you can to make Wilmington beautiful this Summer.

The campaign has demonstrated that Col. Bryan's ambition doesn't need any fanning to keep it alive.

Col. Roosevelt took a big job on his hands when he expected to beat Taft to a frazzle and then win the Presidency from a man like Woodrow Wilson.

The Greenville News tells of a man who gave up his salary to his wife during Lent. Probably he considers that it was not a gift, but a loan, because it was Lent.

The campaign managers declare that it is hard to finance a nominating campaign. People who finance chances know how to sympathize with campaign managers.

Lots of men are going to vote the Democratic ticket and secure real tariff revision for the reason that prices are so high that their pay envelope is the equivalent of barely enough meal tickets to last him for a week.

Lots of men are not astonished at what the two distinguished Republican Presidential candidates are saying against each other. They have known each other for many years and are speaking of their own knowledge. They confirm all our suspicions.

Wilmington is getting ready for the season at the seaside. It will be the greatest in the history of her splendid resorts The hotel accommodations will be much greater and the means of enjoyment will be increased in many ways. Save up for a trip to the seashore.

President Taft seems to be a man of the finer sensibilities, for he said it "wrenched his soul" to have to fight back at his old bosom friend, Col. Roosevelt. He ought not to feel anyways squirmish about using all kinds of thunder when an old friend is coming at him like lightning.

From the rear end of his train, Col. Roosevelt told his Iowa audiences that he would "guarantee to live up to every promise." Yes, but what promises has he made? If he made any in Iowa, the folks didn't like them for their convention decided to stick to Taft. We would like to see a list of the Colonel's promises, especially those not capable of two interpretations.

In an interview at Tampa, Fla., on Friday, the Hon. William J. Bryan declared that he believed the result of the Roosevelt-Taft fight would be the nomination of a compromise candidate by the Chicago convention. That appears reasonable, judging from what Roosevelt has told on Taft and what Taft is telling on Roosevelt. We admit what Teddy says about Taft and confess what Taft says about Teddy.

The country ought now to be able to know the reason why Mr. George W. Perkins, of the Harvester Trust, is such a believer in Col. Roosevelt. It is not on account of his faith in Teddy, but on account of Teddy's works while President. By calling off the prosecution of the Harvester Trust, President Roosevelt placed Perkins under everlasting obligations to him. Perkins shows his gratitude by loyalty to the third termer and is as "faithful as a yaller dog under a wagon."

SELF-CONFESSED BLUNDERER

Roosevelt made Taft, but in attempting to unmake him by assailing him for being "weak," and "unfit for the task," the Rough Rider is a self-confessed blunderer in having chosen his own successor.

The uncomely, disgraceful clash between Roosevelt and Taft lets "the cat out the bag," and the feline chases itself, with ruffled tail and glassy eyes, from the Roosevelt camp into the Taft camp, and back and forth, in its rushes to hide its head. It is a spectacle which should cause Americans to bag their heads in shame, and the sooner it is over, with a crushing defeat for both, the better it will be for the country and the people.

It is only fair to state that Roosevelt started this unseemly controversy by making assaults on the President and in persisting in doing it. He provoked a counter attack from Taft, yet in his tirade against the President, Col. Roosevelt in his speech at Worcester, Mass., on Friday, would make it appear that he is "injured innocence." Nevertheless, every fair-minded man knows who went into the ring with his hat and threw the first mud. Since the Colonel has gotten a return shower, and has been neatly exposed for his gingerly handling of the Harvester Trust, he is mad. Taft bandled that phase of his trust-busting hypocrisy a few days ago, and the record in the case sent to Congress a few days ago from the Department of Justice certainly is an eye-opener for the American people.

Let us see what we have found out by this fight between Roosevelt and Taft. We name Roosevelt first because he started the fight. We have found out, first of all, that Roosevelt made Taft President, and that the Republican party did little more than nominate Roosevelt's choice and elect him with the backing of the money power of the country. Roosevelt acknowledges in his speech that he was Taft's maker, and read a letter from President acknowledging the corn. In his Worcester speech on Friday Roosevelt read this from a personal letter from the President:

"I cannot forget that the power I now exercise was voluntarily transferred from you to me and that I am under obligation to you to see to it that your judgment in selecting me as your successor and bringing about the succession, shall be vindicated, according to the standards which you and I in conversation have always formulated."

That acknowledgment from Taft speaks for itself and it confirms the Democratic charge that by the use of Federal patronage Roosevelt forced Taft on the National Republican Convention in 1908. Roosevelt also speaks for himself when he said: "No man in this country was as much interested as if I was in having Mr. Taft succeed," and to indicate his consciousness that he made Taft his successor, the Rough Rider administers this rebuke to Taft for his supposed ingratitude here of late: "It is a bad trait to bite the hand that feeds you."

The manhood of America ought to resent such open and infamous usurpation of their rights. This bold and open acknowledgment of it ought to sweep this country with indignation, yet a craven nation seems to supinely take it as a matter of course! No more high-handed act was ever committed by a European monarch than that of Roosevelt in usurping the right of the sovereign people of the United States to name his successor. "No other man in this country was as much interested as I was in having Mr. Taft succeed" (!) Roosevelt talks like he had to pick a President for himself. If the Presidents of the United States are going to be permitted to pick their successors, what the thunder have the American people to do with it? The American whose blood does not boil at the thought of it must have blood like a turnip.

Taft confesses that the power he has as President of a supposedly free people was "voluntarily transferred from you to me." The devil, it was! Well, it really seems that it was, and yet millions of Americans supporting Roosevelt for a third term seem heedless of the dangerousness of a man who can voluntarily transfer the power of the American Presidency to a successor of his own choosing! If the third-termer is nominated and elected, who the dickens will he select as his next successor? With one President selecting his successor, one after another, the only difference between monarchial rulers and the American Presidency would be that one is hereditary and the other voluntary! Who would stand for it?

The fight between Roosevelt and Taft "lets the cat out the bag" as to the President-making and President-controlling power of Republican-made Trusts of this country. The International Harvester Company incident shows that the only thing that ever cowered Roosevelt was the threat of George W. Perkins that the power of the trust would defeat him. The record and private correspondence sent to Congress a few days ago shows that. Fear of the money power and monied opposition cowered Roosevelt into calling off the government prosecution of the Harvester Trust. In his speeches, hitting back at Roosevelt mad. "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." Let the gods madden the whole crowd.

With the trusts and money power cowering and controlling a President, let us observe the danger of having in the Presidency a man who will stay the hand of the government and let monopoly have its will with its victims. To stand with monopoly seriously affects the interests of the people who are exploited by it with the consent of the President who calls off the sleuths for fear of danger to his ambition.

The fight between Roosevelt and Taft shows that for any one man to pick a President does tremendous injury to the American people. In his speech at Worcester, Roosevelt declared that Taft proved unfit for the task which he "voluntarily" turned over to him. The Rough Rider made good in pointing out the weakness of Taft in surrendering to Aldrich and Cannon in their determination to put a monstrous tariff tax on the American people for the benefit of plutocracy. He nailed Taft to the clapboard for violating his campaign pledge for tariff revision when he "sat supinely by and allowed his new friends, under the leadership of Messrs. Aldrich and Cannon, to produce a bill which made him convict himself of insincerity when he signed it." True bill, but it is self-confessed by Roosevelt that his voluntarily-made successor has demonstrated that the Rough Rider made a terrible blunder in picking a President. He declares Taft an "unfit leader of his people," another confession that as a President makes Roosevelt a farce and a fraud.

Roosevelt's "voluntary" transfer of his power to President Taft put upon the people a President, who, according to Roosevelt's own indictment, inflicted on every man, woman and child in America a burdensome tariff, and who, by his vetoes, continues to refuse to relieve consumers of tariff taxes levied for the enrichment of the special privilege classes. What does Roosevelt think of his own ability to nominate Presidents after pointing us to his own horrible example? It but confirms our opinion that Roosevelt is terribly unfit to be taking upon himself the usurped power of picking his successors and "transferring" his power without asking the people.

Nertheless, Roosevelt pretends to have come forth for a third term nomination at the "call of the people," after having pointed us to his horrible example as a blunderer in making Taft President. He must want another term in order to correct his blunders. He says Taft "means well feebly." If Taft is so darned weak, Roosevelt is too irresponsibly and desperately strenuous. The American people ought to clip his comb as soon as they can get at it.

COL. BRYAN'S MANEUVERINGS.

The Democrats have at least five candidates for the Presidential nomination—four on the turf and one hitched out for the race. Wilson, Clark, Harmon and Underwood are making the race, but when they try to run under the rope they are apt to see the Hon. William Jennings Bryan already under it waiting to make it a neck-to-neck affair at the end of the heat. There are four avowed candidates, and one avowedly receptive.

Col. Bryan has as much right to be a candidate on the side as anybody. A Washington dispatch a few days ago said that while the eminent Nebraskan was in Washington he made it plain that he was not a candidate in the sense that he was seeking the nomination, but that he would not decline a nomination. He wouldn't. Who would?

The Nebraskan's attitude in the campaign between Wilson, Clark, Harmon and Underwood seems to have mystified some people. He is for Clark and for Wilson and for that reason he has been accused of straddling. He refused to express a choice as between Wilson and Clark, but says they are both "progressive" to his liking. Therefore, he speaks for Wilson in States where Wilson sentiment is strong, and for Clark when the popular favor seems to lean towards the Missourian.

That isn't straddling. It is only out of the ordinary. It isn't even riding two horses like a circus man. It is simply the Colonel's way of setting a precedent for us to be for two candidates or more at one and the same time. We have seen Mutts and Jeffs of the voting class promise their vote to every candidate who came along, but they did it secretly. They declared for only one at a time, without letting the others know it.

Two-faced voters will do that and take chances on getting caught. However, Col. Bryan is different. He comes out openly and declares for two candidates. He lets us know where he is standing—in between two of them.

During the past week, the Nebraskan has been campaigning in Florida for Wilson. Probably his next speaking tour will be in the interest of Clark in some other State. Therefore, we take it that he will be glad if either one of them is nominated. If either gets to be President, the Nebraskan can stand in with him. That is one of the beauties of riding on the bandwagon of two eligibles. One of the other beauties of it is that in dividing up the support it might be possible to keep either of them from being nominated, so that in a contingency like that the National convention is liable to throw the saddle on some of us dark horses. If that were to be the case, Col. Bryan would beat all of us a mile.

Well, it might happen that way, but nobody would be guilty of suspecting that the Nebraskan is supporting two candidates so neither can get nominated. If he is maneuvering for that contingency, it is legitimate. It is a nice thing to be President, and it is every man's privilege to look out for himself where the possibilities are conspicuous and alluring.

In a speech at Newark, N. J., on Friday, President Taft, in hitting back at Roosevelt, said: "I am forced against the wall with my back to it, and I'm bound, if I have any manhood, to fight." In the words of the late Sam Jones, it really does look as if it is a case of "Shoot Luke, or give up your gun."

CURRENT COMMENT.

In New York there is a hospital under the name of the Home of the Daughters of Jacob. A day or two ago the directors of the hospital, at a special meeting, decided to build a new wing to the establishment and name it in honor of Mrs. Isidor Straus, who refused to leave the side of her husband when the Titanic was sinking. The good lady would doubtless have chosen that sort of monument.—Savannah News.

In this sentence President Taft replied to his sometime friend "Theodore," with perfect accuracy and completeness: "But when I consider the eagerness with which Mr. Roosevelt has accepted, in his various campaigns, the assistance of Mr. Aldrich, Mr. Cannon, Mr. Penrose, Mr. Quay, Mr. Platt, Mr. Foraker and many others, I do not hesitate to say that it involves the most audacious effrontery on his part to attack me because men he characterizes as bosses are now supporting me and to charge me on that account with helping machine politics." The President has told the simple truth—but what has that to do with the case. The President is not vociferous, he has never killed a lion or ridden a horse 90 miles in a day and there are some millions of voters who will not listen to the President or any other eminently rational person in a speech-making contest with a man especially fitted for posing for moving picture films.—Columbia State.

NEW BOOK ON WAR

"The Catawba Soldier of the Civil War" The Title

Unique in its conception, decidedly novel in that it is a monument to the private soldier, and wholly refreshing in the innumerable reminscences and personal experiences on the battle field and around the camp fire, is "The Catawba Soldier of the Civil War," a volume of 385 pages from the pen of Prof. George W. Hahn, of Hockory, N. C., himself a veteran of the great War Between the States.

The book is altogether a departure from the usual type of local historical works, for it actually gives a history of every soldier from the county of Catawba who went to the war, and is illustrated by photographs of many of these deathless heroes. It pictures the war from the viewpoint of the man behind the gun, portraying the battles as he saw and fought them. As a history it is full and complete, and as a tribute of respect to the memory of his comrades of the great struggle it places the name of the author among those who have accomplished something worth while and lasting.

To the veteran of the war it must indeed be a rare and precious thing, wherein he can refresh his memory of the stirring days of '61-'65 and in many instances look upon the faces of his old comrades, some of whom gave their lives for the principle for which they fought, others of whom have passed away peacefully, surrounded by their loved ones, and still others of whom are today leading the lives of substantial, respected citizens, serene in the consciousness of a duty nobly done, awaiting the call to the next world.

To the younger generation the book is as completely absorbing and interesting as to the veteran. Many of them may scan its pages and see the faces of their fathers, uncles, or other relatives, and read of the part they took in the greatest war the world has known. To future historians it offers a wealth of accurate information upon which to work, and to the other counties of the State it sets an example that is worthy of following.

Prof. Geo. W. Hahn, the author, enlisted August 1st, 1861, at the age of 19, and fought through the war. He was twice wounded at Gettysburg, and for several hours fought from behind an improvised breastwork, formed by the body of a big Union soldier. After the war he attended Catawba College, Newton, N. C., for several years. His profession has been that of a teacher, and many of the broad-shouldered sons of Catawba have gone out to fight life's battles better equipped because of the training they received under him. Today at the age of 69 he is an active citizen of Hickory, with a keen interest in the questions of the modern age. His dearest wish is that the other counties of the State will follow the example set by "The Catawba Soldier of the Civil War," so that future historians will be furnished a rich and accurate field from which to cull their facts.

The price of the book is $1.50, or by mail to any address, $1.69. Prof. Hahn's address is Hickory, N. C.

WILL RESORT TO COURTS

City to Seek Injunction to Prevent Sewerage Co., From Disconnecting Pipes—Protection of the Citizens.

As a result of a special meeting of the City Council yesterday morning at 11 o'clock to consider the matter, it is very likely that an injunction will be sought by the city of Wilmington and several interested citizens against the Wilmington Sewerage Company, restraining and enjoining the corporation from disconnecting any sewer pipes on the premises of any person, firm or corporation for failure to pay the double rate, effective April 1st, where the former rate had been tendered the company.

It is presumed suit will be started against the company and that there will be a hearing as to whether the new rate is reasonable. Another special meeting will be held at 12 o'clock tomorrow at which time the matter will be gone into more thoroughly, when formal action will be taken. The citizens generally of the city who are interested are most cordially invited to be present. Those who consent to become a party to the action will affix their name to the petition at the meeting. The city attorney will likely leave Monday night or Tuesday morning for Clinton, where Judge G. S. Ferguson is nolding court, to seek the injunction.

Mayor Smith presided with all members in attendance. He stated the object of the meeting, after which Dr. Chas. T. Nesbitt, city superintendent of health, said that should the sewerage company disconnect any large number of sewers that it would be a menace to the health of the city, this suggesting that the city should take a hand in the matter from a health standpoint, if from no other. The proposition is that the sewerage company has doubled its rates, effective April 1st, and has issued a statement that the pipes will be disconnected from the premises of those who have not paid by May 1st. The city demurred, and so have a great many citizens. The meeting yesterday was to discuss the situation with a view of determining the best method to pursue.

It had been suggested that the Mayor might refuse to grant permits to the sewerage company to dig in the streets, which is necessary to disconnect the pipes, and that if agents of the company did any excavating they would be arrested and tried under a city ordinance. However, it was conceded at the meeting yesterday that if the company should comply with all the conditions of the ordinance that the Mayor would be compelled to grant the permit. So this suggestion was not given further consideration.

City Attorney Herbert McClammy, when asked his opinion of the matter, said that the question relative to the increase of rates was whether or not the charge is reasonable and that it was a matter for the courts to determine, not the Council, and he also expressed the opinion that it is not the business of the Council, but the citizens who may feel aggrieved to bring court action. In this view Councilman B. C. Moore disagreed, saying that he felt it the duty of the city to get out an injunction to prevent the company from disconnecting the pipes and to bring action in the courts to determine whether or not the rate as now charged is reasonable. Mayor Smith, Councilman P. Q. Moore and Councilman Perdew concurred with Councilman Moore, Councilman Tiencken taking the position that the city should not be put to this expense. City Attorney McClammy then advised Council that if an action was to be brought against the company it would be well to secure a number of citizens as parties to the suit.

Councilman P. Q. Moore made the significant remark that the city seemed to be right much in a fix and unable to do anything with regard to the sewerage proposition. He wanted to fight it out with the company and get to fighting just as early as possible. He did not believe in any further delay of the matter, which has been hanging fire too long already.

Councilman Perdew said that he thought the city ought to advertise for bids for a complete sewerage plant. Councilman P. Q. Moore said that something ought to be done and remarked upon the fact that the sewerage company had not given the courtesy of a reply to the city's last proposition.

Councilman Perdew asked if it was the intention of Council to wait indefinitely on the Philadelphia people to give an answer. Mayor Smith replied that he thought it best to wait until the next regular meeting. At the suggestion of Mayor Smih the clerk was instructed to notify Iredell Meares, Esq., counsel for the bondholders, that an answer to the proposition is expected by Tuesday of this week. Councilman Perdew said that the bondholders of the sewerage company will soon begin to think the Councilmen the biggest prevaricators in the country, as so many final actions have been taken by the body.

Councilman Tiencken raised the point that if several citizens are made party defendants in the action that they should pay a portion of the costs. Councilman B. C. Moore said that he considered it a public matter, one for the city to handle through the Council, and that he for one was not willing that individuals be required to pay one cent of the cost of the action. Thus the matter rested.

The Wilmington Suburban Co., submitted in writing a proposition to give the city a tract of land bordering on Greenfield Lake, containing about 18 or 20 acres, to be used as a park provided the city improve Fourth street from Wright to the lake; that it require the property owners on either side of the street to put down granolithic sidewalks; that the property for the park be improved and given ample police protection. It was stated at the meeting that the city has not the authority to require persons living outside the city to pave sidewalks abutting on their property. However, the matter will be given further consideration at the special meeting Monday, the city engineer in the meantime to gather information relative to the cost of the improvement of the thoroughfare. According to the proposition of the Wilmington Suburban Co., work on the street must begin by May 1st, but it is not specified when the street must be completed.

SWAT THE FLY CAMPAIGN

Will Begin In Earnest May 1st With Many Contestants for Prizes Offered for Greatest Quantity Of Flies Caught

Interest in the "Swat-the-Fly" campaign which is to be conducted under the auspices of North Carolina Sorosis, beginning May 1st, has become very general throughout the city and the ladies have had the assurance of the hearty co-operation of many of the citizens. The campaign will continue through the month and will be conducted through the city health department.

Similar campaigns have been very successful in many large cities and towns and it is believed that success will crown the efforts of Sorosis and the health department in Wilmington. There is no place for this great disease-carrier in Wilmington. Last year the health department did most effective work with the pyroligneous acid and it is earnestly hoped by the ladies and others interested in extermination of the pest that the acid will be used again this Summer. With the aid of the health department and the children of the city, Sorosis is confident of a victory.

Sorosis is anxious to enlist the aid of the children in the campaign and has offered prizes to the white boys and girls of the city, not over 16 years old, who will catch the largest number of flies in a given time. Prizes are offered as follows:

First prize—For the largest number of quarts over ten quarts of flies caught, $5. Second prize—For the most effective original flytrap, $5. Third prize—For the largest number of quarts over five quarts, $3. Five prizes of $1 each for next largest number of flies caught. Ten cents a quart will be paid to each contestant for first 100 quarts brought in.

Further announcement of the plans for the contest will be made in Tuesday's Star. The children of Worcester, Mass.; San Antonio, Texas; Washington, D. C., and Cleveland, Ohio, have carried on campaigns of extermination, and in all of the places they have won a victory.

EXCURSION TO CAROLINA.

Annual Outing of Marine Engineers' Association in May.

The annual excursion of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, No. 71, to Carolina Beach, will be given Thursday, May 30th. This is the first excursion to Carolina Beach announced this season. The Marine Engineers have been running the first excursion to Carolina Beach each season for several years and always have large crowds. There will be three trips of the steamer Wilmington, the boat leaving the city at 9 A. M., 2:30 and 7:30 P. M., the last boat returning to the city about midnight. Music and refreshments will be provided. Mr. J. W. Frederick, president of the association, has general charge of the arrangements and is assisted by the following committees: Ticket committee, J. J. Bell and W. A. Furlong; music, S. C. Dunn and J. W. Copeland; refreshments, Robt. Roberts, John Risley and W. H. Ward.

Almost a Miracle.

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsclaw, Clarendon, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother. "He had such a dreadful cough," he writes, "that all our family thought he was going into consumption, but he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, and was completely cured by ten bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for coughs and colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. WILMINGTON HAS RIVAL

Charlotte Also Not Especially Anxious To Convict "Tigers"

Much has been said about the failure of New Hanover juries to convict in "blind tiger" cases and a great many people had come to the point where they really believe that in most other towns and cities juries convict for selling whiskey on evidence not nearly so strong as that upon which they were acquitted in this county. It seems that Wilmington has a rival in this regard, Charlotte being the city that is trying to wrest this distinction from this city, as the following from yesterday's Charlotte Observer indicates:

"That Mecklenburg juries are loath to convict in blind tiger case s,unless the evidence is overwhelming, found striking exemplification in Superior Court yesterday, when each one of the defendants in four actions were turned loose, three being colored women and one a white man, the testimony in each case being more or less conflicting. The sum total of the week's criminal term is rather unusual, for the prosecution in not a single case secured a conviction in a liquor case. In fact, so disgusted did Solicitor George W. Wilson become yesterday afternoon that when Judge Lyon started to pass sentence on Dora Allison, a colored woman who had plead guilty to the charge of acting as a go-between in a blind tiger case, that he voluntarily suggested that judgment be suspended in view of the fact that the principal in the alleged transaction, Odessa Williams, colored, had been acquitted by the jury."

DATE OF PRECINCT MEETINGS.

Set Yesterday by Democratic County Executive Committee.

A meeting of the Democratic County Executive Committee was held in the office of Chairman Geo. Harriss, No. 206 Princess street, yesterday at noon for the purpose of calling precinct meetings. May 18th was the date selected, at which time the voters in the various precincts will assemble and select delegates to the county convention to be held May 25th, at 12 o'clock. Each of the 13 precincts of the county is entitled to one delegate for every 25 votes cast in the last Gubernatorial election, and the vote polled in New Hanover county in 1908 entitles the county to 84 delegates at the convention. These delegates in turn elect delegates to the State convention.

The meeting was presided over by Chairman Harriss and Secretary John Gafford kept a record of the proceedings. Nearly all of the members were present. The only other business transacted was the election of Mr. J. M. Solky as a committeeman from the third ward, to fill the vacancy caused by the removal from the city of Mr. L. B. Rogers, the former committeeman from that ward.

All voters of the county are requested to note the advertisement appearing elsewhere in today's Star for particulars as to the time and place of the meetings in the various precincts.

DURHAM BOYS WIN DEBATE

Wilmington High School Representatives Defeated by Visitors at School Auditorium Last Evening.

Wilmington High School went down in defeat to Durham High School when Messrs. J. R. Patton and W. B. Umpstead, representing Durham, won over Messrs. John Wells and John Allen Thames in the debate at the High School auditorium last night on the query: "Resolved, That United States Senators should be elected by the direct vote of the people." The victors had the affirmative side.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, Mr. W. B. Cooper and L. Clayton Grant, Esq., the judges, had a hard time in deciding the contest, for the young men on each side presented some strong arguments in favor of their contentions, and each one of them displayed no small oratorical ability. However, it was agreed that the visitors had the better of the argument and the judgment was made accordingly. The debate was heard by a fairly large audience. Mayor Joseph D. Smith presided and Mr. Julian Moore acted as secretary. Prof. McIntosh, of the Durham High School, accompanied the visiting debaters and coached them in their work.

Mr. J. R. Patton led off in the debate for the affirmative. He was followed by Mr. John Wells for the negative. Mr. W. B. Umpstead came second for the affirmative and Mr. John Allen Thames last for the negative. On the rebuttal Mr. Patton led off, followed by Mr. Thames, Mr. Umpstead, and Mr. Wells.

In support of their contentions the affirmative argued that the direct election of Senators is desired by the people at large, that it will give the voters of the country the means of expressing their preference and that it will serve to do away with bribery and factional fights within the State Legislatures. The negative presented the arguments that the large body of voters are not well enough posted to make wise selections for the high public office of Senator; that the new method would open the way for still greater briberies and corruptions than exist under present conditions; that it was untried, impractical and unconstitutional.

The debate is said to have been won by the visitors on the second round, the rejoinder of Mr. Umpstead bringing out to the fullest extent his debating ability. Following his rejoinder the audience voted the victory to the visitors.

Mrs. J. M. Wells presented each of the teams with a handsome basket of flowers after the debate was over and the judges had announced their decisions.

THE NEW CHALMERS "SIX".

Handsome Touring Car Purchased by Mr. M. J. Corbett.

The Gibbes Machinery Co., has delivered to Mr. M. J. Corbett a very handsome Chalmers "Six" touring car. This is the latest creation of the Chalmers Motor Co. The "Six" has caused much favorable comment among motorists since it has made its appearance on the streets of Wilmington. It is fully equipped, among the equipment being the famous Chalmers compressed type of air self starter, an electric lighting device for the gas head lamps, and a Chalmers patented folding wind shield. A car of this type was the official press car in the Glidden tour last year, being piloted by Mr. Freeman Munroe, the famous hydroplane driver. The Chalmers "Six" is one of the handsomest cars to be seen in the city and adds to the number of high grade cars which have been bought recently by some of Wilmington's prominent citizens.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING CELEBRATED NEAR SANFORD

Sanford, N. C., April 27.—A very pretty and impressive wedding was solemnized at Salem Presbyterian church, near this place, at 9 o'clock on Thursday night, April 25th, when Miss Virginia Sheppard, the attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James L. Sheppard, became the bride of Mr. Elton Early Avent, of Charleston, S. C., Rev. A. W. Shaw, the bride's pastor, officiating.

The church was beautifully and tastefully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being a combination of green and white. A profusion of ferns, smilax, ivy, graceful bows of long-leaf pine, and an abundance of lovely cut flowers were arranged in a manner which gave a very artistic and pleasing effect.

The first of the wedding party to enter the church were the ushers, Messrs. Gunter Watson and Roland W. Sheppard; and they were followed by little Miss Ida McNeill, dressed in white lingerie, who gracefully strewed flowers along the pathway of the bride. Then came the maid of honor, Miss Annie Sheppard, sister of the bride, dressed in light blue messaline and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. Next came the groom, attended by his brother, Mr. Armour Avent, as best man; and they were joined at the altar by the bride, who entered the church leaning on the arm of her father. The bride wore a handsome gown of white satin combined with Marquisette, trimmed with pearls and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

As the bridal party entered the church, Mendelssohn's Wedding March was exquisitely rendered by Miss Bertie May, and during the ceremony the soft strains of Traumerei added greatly to the impressiveness of the occasion. The wedding party left the church to the happy strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March.

After the ceremony at the church, a brief reception was held at the nearby home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Avent left for Sanford, where they were to take the train for their new home in Charleston, S. C.

The large assemblage of friends who were present at the wedding attested the popularity of the couple in this section. Among those present from a distance were: Miss Bertie May, of Carthage; Mr. Armour Avent, of Florence, S. C.; Mr. Gordon Sheppard, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. Roland W. Sheppard, of Chapel Hill; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Sheppard, of Wilmington, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Allred, of Lillington.

PROVIDES FOR BOULEVARD

Bill In Congress for Ornamentation Of National Cemetery

Congressman H. L. Godwin, of the Sixth North Carolina district, has introduced in the House of Representatives a bill providing for the appropriation of $10,000 for the construction of a boulevard around the National cemetery, just east of the city of Wilmington. The bill which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, is as follows:

"To construct a boulevard around the National cemetery at Wilmington, North Carolina.

"Bet it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

"Section 1. That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to construct or cause to be constructed a boulevard, with proper ornamentation around the National cemetery, at Wilmington, N. C., the cost of said boulevard not to exceed the sum of $10,000, which said sum of $10,000 is hereby appropriated for said purpose out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated."

The bill was introduced in Congress at the suggestion of Capt. R. B. Davis, of this city, who wrote Congressman Godwin a strong letter on April 15th, urging action of this kind. Captain Davis wrote at the instance of the people of the city generally, including "Carolina Heights" and of "Carolina Place." Congressman Godwin expresses the opinion that Congress will grant the appropriation.

Among those who testified were Mr. John Sholar, Mr. Thos. Simmons, who was converted during the Torrey revival meeting here several years ago; Mr. Rivenbark, a commercial traveler, who was converted in the Bowery Mission, New York city, and Rev. W. S. Jacoby, who is conducting the series of revival services at the church and who, before his conversion, was a drunkard, gambler and "sporting man."

The revival at Immanuel church will come to a close with the two meetings today, one this morning at 11 o'clock and the other tonight at 7:45.

NOTICE TO FAT WOMEN

Presumably you know, ladies, that the proper caper nowadays is lines. Curves are passe. You have got to take off your fat. This must be done in one of three ways. By dieting, by exercise, or by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. The two former will keep you busy for months and punish you pretty severely, the latter will cost you 75 cents at the druggist's. The tablets will not make any alteration in your diet necessary, and yet in all probability, before you have used up one case, you will be losing from 12 to 16 ounces of fat a day. Which method do you like the best?

If you fancy this pleasant method of getting off the fat, see your druggist instantly, or else write the Marmola Co., 906 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., to send you a case by mail. These cases contain so generous a quantity of tablets that the treatment is very economical. It is, also, quite harmless, for the tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription.

THE LAST FISCAL YEAR.

Report of Mayor and Clerk and Treasurer of Wrightsville Beach.

The annual reports of the Mayor and the Clerk and Treasurer of the town of Wrightsville Beach for the fiscal year ending April 1st, 1912, were issued yesterday to the taxpayers of the town. In his statement Mayor Thomas H. Wright says with reference to new board walks: "It is the intention of the Mayor and Board of Aldermen to get more two-inch cypress to lay additional walks for the season of 1912, although great difficulty is found in securing this timber." Other paragraphs of general interest in his statement follow:

"The co-operation of the residents and owners of the beach in the matter of sanitation is earnestly requested. Unless the importance of this comes home to each of us, it is a hard and nearly impossible proposition to the town authorities. Trash around premises should be burned, garbage disposed of and particularly the sewerage and sewer pipe line put in thorough condition. Often a pipe is broken above low water, when condition such as this exists the danger is evident. Work of this character should be attended to now, before the season opens.

"There is another point that the residents of the beach will do well to consider from both a personal, even a business point of view. This is the town beautiful, and to a great extent means paint.

"Already a number of the cottages are being repainted, brightened, beautified and if all who can, and whose cottage needs it, will put a new coat, Wrightsville Beach will present to ourselves, and to our thousands of visitors a more attractive, beautiful, well kept, up-to-date appearance than ever before.

"Following this, clean yards, free of trash and paper, will be a continuation of the good work."

The report of Mr. R. H. Northrop, the clerk and treasurer, is as follows: Balance on hand April 1, 1911, $662.21. Receipts—Real estate tax, 1911, $1,789.73; license tax, 1911, $455, a total of $2,244.73, and a grand total of $2,906.94. Disbursements—Material and labor for board walks, $1,242.79; police protection, $283.05; Winter watchman, $290; W. A. Williams, tax listing, $7.50; sanitary work, $150.33; one quarter expense, advertising health conditions throughout South, $114.14; stationery, postage and printing, $39.05; clerk and treasurer, salary for one year, $2,354.33; balance on hand April 1st, 1912, $555.61.

NEW CHURCH FOR WHITEVILLE

Likely That An Episcopal Church Will Be Organized There Soon

The Church of the Good Shepherd, of this city, one of the most active Episcopal churches in this section, expects to start an auxiliary church at Whiteville some time in the near future. Rev. Thos. P. Noe, the rector, has already made two visits to Whiteville, where he preached to large congregations. He expects to preach at Whiteville the second Sunday in each month. Following his next visit announcement will probably be made of plans to organize a new church there. Only a few months ago the Church of Ascension was organized by the Church of the Good Shepherd and is conducted by the parent church.

Ten-Day Sale
of New Spring and Summer Goods

The usual custom is: Wait until the close of Summer Season and then cut prices on all Spring and Summer goods. This year we are going to try the New Plan of Cutting Prices AT THE BEGINNING OF THE SEASON—while the goods are in demand and needed, feeling confident that it is far easier to dispose of the Surplus stock (which we are sometimes compelled to buy in order to get low prices) than to wait until the end of the season, when every one is supplied and there is no demand for same.

This Sale will begin "Monday," May 1st, and run Ten Days.

Watch for Price List Hand Bill.

YOU WILL BE ASTONISHED AT THE LOW PRICES.

EXCITED ADVANCE IN COTTON

Private Weather Reports Caused Rise During Early Part of the Day and Official Reports Caused a Sharp Reaction.

New York, April 27.—Unfavorable private weather reports caused a somewhat excited advance in the cotton market during this morning's earlier trading, but with the official weather details failing to show as much rain as anticipated, there was an equally sharp reaction, with the close easy, net 3 points lower to 3 points higher.

The market opened firm at a decline of three points on May, but generally from 3 to 6 points higher on unfavorable weatner news. Big overnight selling orders held the advance in check on the call, and caused some irregularity during the first few minutes, but the circulation of numerous private reports of rain in Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi brought in outside buying orders, and the market during the middle of the morning showed a net advance of about 8 to 12 points.

Official forecasts for unsettled weather and showers in the belt over Sunday added to the buying movement, which was evidently for both accounts, although perhaps the bulk of the demand represented covering for over the week-end by recent sellers.

Offerings became heavier on the advance and later in the morning the market weakened with sellers more aggressive, owing to the failure of the official weather details to confirm all the private reports of rainfall in Eastern and Central sections of the belt. Closing prices were at practically the lowest point of the day on new crop positions. Liverpool was lower than due by a considerable margin, but was supposed to have closed before receiving the private reports of rain. The weather map itself showed no important precipitation in the belt for the preceding 24 hours, with the exception of a fall of over two inches at Memphis, but there was a low area west of the belt which led to private predictions of rain over Sunday. The completed week-end figures attracted little attention, and the talk around the local ring suggests that the trade is chiefly interested in weather conditions and the outlook for the new crop.

STOCK MARKET REACTIONARY

Opening Prices Were Below Preceding Day's Close—Marked Strength in Metal Stocks—Trading Diminished at Close.

New York, April 27.—During the two hours of business on the stock exchange today the tone of the market was irregular when it was not reactionary. Opening prices for the most part were below those of the preceding day's close, but in only two issues, Reading and Canadian Pacific, did losses extend beyond a point. These were promptly recovered before the end of the first hour with marked strength in the metal stocks. Trading diminished in the final hour, when prices again fell back, with some selling pressure directed against the market leaders. The closing was dull, with a number of net losses, some of which ran to a full point. In the opinion of impartial observers, the recent extraordinary movement in Reading was primarily responsible for today's tendency.

There has been a great deal of criticism directed at that episode and conservative members of the exchange appear to have taken cognizance of the fact. The weekly mercantile statement was considered satisfactory as a whole.

Another large lot of South African gold is to be delivered in London on Monday. From all accounts the continent will not compete for the metal, which is likely to be divided between the British metropolis and India.

The bond market was irregular with narrow fluctuations. Total sales, par value, aggregated $1,291,000. Panama 3s advanced 1-8 per cent. on call during the week. Total sales for the day 342,900 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 27.—In the face of predictions of much-needed rain for Kansas and Nebraska, the wheat market advanced today to a point higher than for several years. BOYS' BRIGADE BAZAAR.

Annual Event Will be Held This Week at the Institution.

The annual bazaar of the Boys' Brigade will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week at the armory, corner Second and Church streets. All arrangements have practically been completed for the affair. The finishing touches to the various booths will begin tomorrow and continue through Wednesday morning and everything will be in readiness for the opening Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

It has been decided to award a prize of $5 to the holder of the lucky number secured at the door as was done last year. This prize has been donated by the People's Savings Bank. Special prizes will be given away at each booth as well. There will be a musical programme on each night of the bazaar. Those who will entertain the patrons on Wednesday night will be Miss Gertrude Sneed, Miss Grace Chair, a quartette composed of Mrs. F. A. Muse, Mrs. J. J. Loughlin and Messrs. W. B. Muse and Chas. Dushan, and a piano solo by Miss Katie Foard. Some of the other good musicians will provide the entertainment for the other nights. announcements of which will be made in due time.

It is intended to make a special feature of the country store this year as in the past, though the special feature this year will be the greatly increased value of the goods for sale, but there will be no advance in cost. The merchants are giving very liberally and generously this year to this feature and Frank Brittain assures bargains galore to his patrons this year. A splendid orchestra has been secured for the bazaar which will furnish good music for the entire three evenings and everything is being done to make this the banner year in bazaars in Wilmington. The proceeds will be applied to defraying the expense of the annual encampment at Southport. It is expected that the attendance will eclipse anything of the kind in the past. A good time for little money is promised to each one who attends.

RETURNS FROM MEETING

Delegates Back From Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association

Wilmington's delegates to the annual meeting of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association, held the past week at Montgomery, Ala., returned to the city yesterday at noon. In the party were: Messrs. H. Lacy Hunt, F. E. Hashagen, I. W. Cooper, A. B. Surles and D. L. Gore. They report a largely attended and most profitable meeting. The next convention goes to Charlotte, that city being selected after a hard-fought contest with several other cities which were bidding for the privilege of entertaining the meeting. Mr. L. M. Hooper, of Selma, Ala., and Mr. Hashagen, of thic city, who were first and second vice presidents, respectively, declined to stand for re-election, and their places were filled by Mr. A. P. Bush, of Mobile, Ala., and Mr. W. T. Reeves, of Tupelo, Miss., respectively. Mr. J. H. McLaurin, of Jacksonville, Fla., was re-elected president. The following are members of the board of directors from North Carolina: Mr. L. B. Rogers, of Asheville, formerly of this city; Mr. H. Lacy Hunt, of Wilmington, and Mr. C. H. Kelly, of Henderson.

Mr. Hashagen is the double of Governor Brown, of Georgia, and members of the local delegation returning yesterday say that he was often greeted as Georgia's Chief Executive. Mr. Hashagen spent Friday in Atlanta and he was taken there by many people for Governor Brown. Memorial Day exercises were being held there. Mr. Hashagen was standing on a corner near the Piedmont Hotel when the parade passed that point. A number of veterans crowded around and cheered him. It is said that he could not make the old soldiers understand that it was a case of mistaken identity and hastened to his room in the Piedmont Hotel, from a window of which he observed the remainder of the procession.

TORNADO KILLS MANY.

Thirty-One Persons Dead—Two Trains Blown Off Track.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 27.—Thirty-one persons are reported to have been killed by a tornado that swept Southwestern Oklahoma and the southeastern corner of the Texas Pan-Handle late today. A dozen towns were struck and farming communities suffered.

Communication facilities are paralyzed tonight, and it is impossible to confirm the reports of loss of life or to accurately estimate the property damage.

The greatest loss of life reported is at Lugert, where it is said 15 persons were killed outright. A special train sent from Altus with physicians and nurses when it was reported a passenger train had been blown from the rails, picked up 10 injured persons and started back for Altus. Two of these, Mrs. Lee Stanaland and Miss Eva Stanaland, died on the train. It was reported a Kansas City, Mexico & Orient train had been blown from the track and 20 persons killed, but it developed that but two cars had been derailed and no one was hurt.

The tornado started just across the Texas border and first killed seven persons at Kirkland, Texas, demolished 30 buildings and blew a Rock Island work train off the track.

Tearing on northward, the storm struck Eldorado, killing four; Calumet, killing three, and Lugert Rocky, where half the town is in ruins; Yukon, Warren, Martha, Blair and Lone Wolf. At each of these places many persons were hurt. Several of these towns are cut off from communication tonight. What is believed to be the tail of the storm destroyed several buildings at Muhall, 50 miles north of Oklahoma City, but so far as known there was no casualty there.

REVIVAL AT FIFTH STREET

Series of Meetings to Begin May 12th And Continue Three Weeks

Beginning May 12th a series of revival meetings will commence at Fifth Street Methodist church, to continue through three weeks. Rev. G. T. Adams, the pastor, will be assisted by Rev. Raymond Browning, a graduate of Trinity College, and who, though a young man, is considered one of the greatest evangelist of the day.

Mr. Browning is now conducting a series of revival meetings at Laurinburg, and because of the immense congregations which are attracted to the services it has been found necessary to secure a large tent in which to hold the meetings, as the capacity of the church was far too small to accommodate the crowds. People are said to be flocking from miles around to hear the young evangelist.

Much interest has already been manifested among the members of Fifth Street church over the coming meeting, and it is felt that the series will result in widespread good throughout the community. Mr. Adams considers himself fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Browning to conduct the meetings.

New Hindoo Prophet Arrives at Paris. French Navy Law—Venezuela and the United States—Mr. Knox's Visit.

(By Associated Press.)

Paris, April 27.—Theosophists of Europe have their thoughts directed toward Paris, for at Paris has arrived a new Hindoo prophet who is regarded by many Theosophists as the precursor of the ultimate master who is to give to the world its long-expected moral transformation.

He is a mere boy, only 15 years of age, and he comes from Agdar in India. At 14 he wrote a book called "At the Feet of the Master," which has been translated into many languages and which is said by Theosophists to be inspired by a high consciousness of human needs. To them the prophet, who is called both Krishnamurti and Alcyone, confirms by his presence the declarations of Mrs. Annie Besant in her address at the Sorbonne last year that a profound change was coming in the life of humanity and that it was to enter upon a new phase to be signalized by the coming of the Master who was to establish a new religion.

The prophet presided at a meeting of Theosophists, of which he is the head. It has 4,000 members, of whom 600 are in France. He plans to pass about six months at the University of Oxford, to gain a knowledge of Western culture, for he believes that in the new era there will come a union of Western culture and of Eastern wisdom. He predicts for the future the formation of a new continent in the Pacific ocean like the one called Atlantis, which, according to classical tradition, once existed in the Atlantic ocean. The prophet and his friends contend that the Bogoloff Islands, whose coming in the North Pacific was accompanied by seismic disturbances, are the nucleus of the new continent he has in mind. This physical earth change he believes, will signalize a revolution in religion.

The new navy law just promulgated fixes the strength of the French navy at 28 ships of the line, 10 "scout" cruisers, 52 destroyers, 10 foreign service ships, 94 submarines, four mine vessels, and various auxiliary ships. Battleships laid down before 1906 are to be struck off the list after 25 years' service, and ships laid down later than that date after 20 years' service. In the case of the battle fleet at least half the ships are to be kept at full complement, and the reduced crews are to include at least three-fifths of the gunnery and engineering staffs.

To permit the withdrawal of traffic police for other and more important duties, such, for instance, as the hunting of the automobile bandits, who have been terrorizing France for the past several weeks, the police authorities are trying an application of railroad methods in the principal thoroughfares of Paris.

Every American tourist who comes to Paris at once remarks the inadequate regulation of street traffic when compared with that of London. Some feeble efforts have been made recently to direct vehicular traffic in central points, like the grand boulevards, but enough has not yet been done. The traversing of streets, therefore, continues exceedingly dangerous in Paris to pedestrians, especially since the slower horse omnibus has been eliminated in favor of the swift and heavy autobus.

The new railroad method applied is that of the erection of a signal cabin in the middle of the roadway at the intersection of the boulevard and the Faubourg Montmartre, one of the most congested crossroads in the city. In this cabin a policeman manipulates a large disc, indicating which vehicles are to stop and which are to proceed. A broad white line from the edge of the sidewalk across the street will mark the point where traffic must wait until given the signal to proceed into the next section. If this experiment proves practicable, it will be rapidly extended all over the heart of Paris.

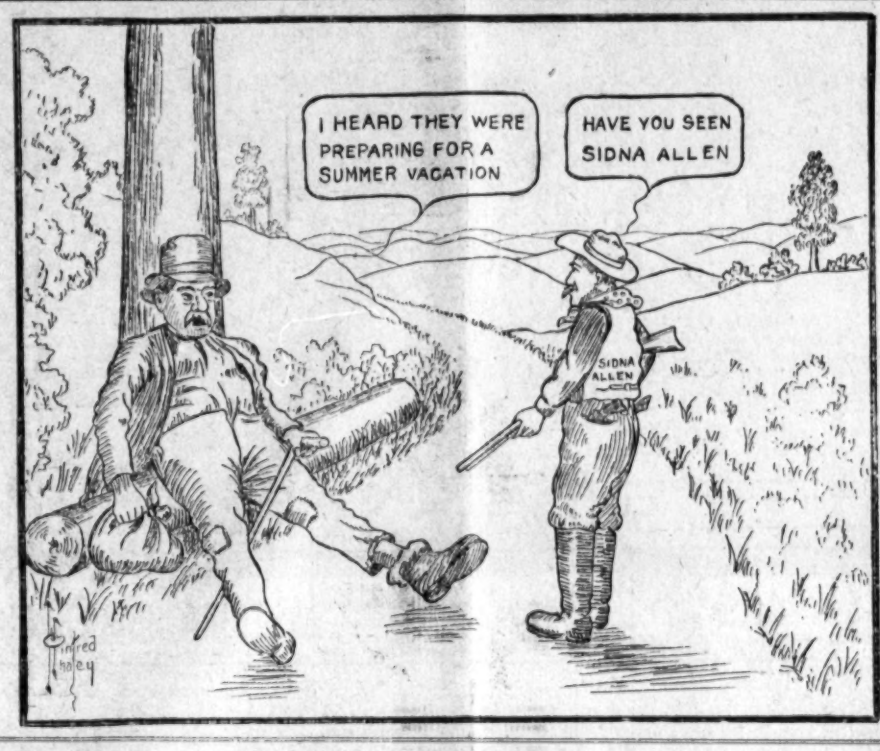
One effect of the British coal strike on the Continent was the forcing of a decree in emigration to the United States. Every Spring there is an important movement of emigrants to America, but this year the discontinuance of several ocean steamers, owing to lack of coal, made it impossible to accommodate all the emigrants who wished to sail. Holland and Belgium refused to receive any more emigrants and sent them back to France and Switzerland. Several hundred emigrants were stranded on the frontiers and were practically living on charity, awaiting the decision of the British miners. One emigration train, containing over 200 Russians, Bulgarians and Turks, bound for the United States, was stopped on the French frontier and refused admission. The emigrants settled themselves at Delemont, Switzerland, awaiting for circumstances to decide their future.



Venezuela and U. S.

Caracas, April 27.—A noticeable interest on the part of the Venezuelan government and the Venezuelan concessionaires to look toward the United States for capital with which to develop her vast resources is already apparent as the direct result of Mr. Knox's visit here. The representative of American bankers who is on the ground is negotiating for the taking over of a large electrical waterpower plant and other enterprises already started or about to be undertaken.

For many years Venezuela has looked only toward France and England for money and it has been perfectly well understood that no American could get any concessions or franchises at all. Only a year ago the project of American capitalists to dredge the entrance to Maracaibo Bay, so as to open up the very wealthy city of Maracaibo to steamers of all sizes, was turned down by President Gomez's cabinet soley because it was against the established policy not to give concessions to Americans. Such was the distrust that it was feared that the very channel which was to be dug might be used by American warships for military purposes against Venezuela. There used to be 18 feet of water on the Maracaibo bar, but it is gradually filling up, until now there is barely 13 feet, and now the only steamers which can get in, the Zulia and Maracaibo of the Red D. Line, strike bottom and nearly every trip and, as there is a heavy swell on the bar, very soon not even these vessels will be able to enter, as they may have their bottoms knocked out.

Since that time a favorable change of opinion has taken root and recently American capitalists have obtained a valuable concession for the exploitation of Venezuela's petroleum deposits and they have had a large corps of engineers prospecting and have now opened up permanent offices in Caracas.

Venezuela cannot remain much longer ignored by Americans, as it is so near the United States and close by the Panama Canal. There are only a dozen Americans today in the whole Republic and only two of them are merchants. As the merchants are nearly all Europeans, the dry goods houses are German and the provision importers are Italians, of course most of the trade is thrown to Europe whenever possible. Most of the public utility franchises are owned by English companies.

Caracas is destined to become the Mecca for Winter tourists, just as soon as an expensive hotel is put up which will cater to their comfort. Notwithstanding the wonderful climate and scenic beauties of Caracas, the tourists only stay a day because of the poor accommodations. Caracas streets are all being paved with cement and roads are being extended out into the country in various directions, making automobiling the coming sport. Cars are coming in on every steamer and the French cars are now giving way to those of American make. An automobile club has been formed and a handsome club house is about to be erected on the outskirts of the city.

The American colony in Caracas, the members of which can be counted on the fingers of one hand, were so impressed by the commercial importance of Mr. Knox's visit that they sent the following telegram to the Secretary on his departure from Puerto Cabello:

"In the name of the American Colony we wish a safe and happy voyage to Mrs. Knox, to yourself and to your suite. We congratulate you and ourselves for the unprecedented manifestations of cordial hospitality and fraternal good will extended to you and your suite by the government and people of Venezuela during your visit, and which have so well accentuated the traditional friendship between the two countries. We hope that our countrymen at home will appreciate at their full worth, as we do, these proofs of friendship and the important benefits which both countries will derive as the result of your mission, which has been such a fortunate one."

"El Universal," Venezuela's greatest newspaper, and the closest one to the actual government, has been speaking editorially, ever since Mr. Knox left, of the commercial benefits which Venezuela hopes to derive by the investment of American capital and closer trade relations. It says:

"The financial impulse which the industrial development of the Republic can hope for from the spirit of initiative of the North Americans means for us legitimate hopes for positive results, both moral and material, from Mr. Knox's visit, and from the impressions which he and his suite collected in Venezuela."

MARKETING A SOCIETY FAD

New York Has Unique Day—Sick Persons to Consult Law Instead of Doctor—Memories of Burr. "Cops de Luxe."

New York, April 27.—Whether the five thousand dollar limousine, to say nothing of the lowlier taxicab, is really an effective agent in reducing the high cost of living is one of the many questions which New York is trying to answer, in checking up the actual results in the greatest movement in this field which this city has yet seen.

In all the hundred years of its existence the famous Washington market, which furnished the scene of action, probably never before experienced such a day as the one last week when 500 members of the Housewives' League descended upon it, determined to do their own marketing first hand, in an effort to eliminate the middleman and reduce the food bills. Never probably has the city seen marketing under such conditions. As a social affair, the demonstration was undoubtedly a success. Music was furnished by a band, and every visitor received a tiny American flag and bouquet. There were guides to furnish information, and all the dealers in the great market were decked out in their best, each with a flower in his buttonhole. Some of the would-be marketers who in all probability had never been in a market before and never will be again, came in their own autos, with their own maids to carry their baskets. Others came in taxis, although the majority arrived by street car or on foot. Many out of town purchasers hastened to express their packages to their homes, leaving the husbands at the other end to wonder just where the saving came in. The prices obtained were, of course, lower than those prevailing at the small retail markets, but considerable doubt exists among the skeptics as to whether the ultimate cost to the consumer in view of the cost of autos, express charges and the like was any less. Even the dealers voted the gala day a huge success, one butcher going so far as to say that he enjoyed it almost as much as the annual chowder party. Pressed for expert views, however, he expressed

WEEK'S NEWS AT LUMBERTON

Politics Warming Up—Street Work and Other Improvements—Pretty Court House Square—Seaboard Air Line Affairs.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., April 27.—The town primary which takes place Tuesday, the 30th, promises to be very interesting. There are only two candidates in the race for Mayor and friends of both are expecting their favorite to win out. The names of eight gentlemen to be voted on for commissioners have been handed in to the election officers as follows: J. H. Wishart, J. T. Biggs, J. D. Practor, J. H. Floyd, D. P. Walters, S. H. Hamilton, H. C. Freeman and C. B. Redmond.

For the board of audit and finance Frank Gough, E. J. Britt and W. S. Britt have been named. Three commissioners and three members of the board of audit and finance are to be chosen. Messrs. R. D. Caldwell, C. B. Townsend, Alf H. McLeod and Q. T. Williams will be voted for as graded school trustees. All the gentlemen named for the different positions are among the best citizens in town and they are not going to run their friends down in the effort to be elected. It is doubtful if there is one named who would walk across the street for the sake of being elected to fill any of the offices except Mayor.

The street work is going on in good shape, though the work has been retarded some on account of rain. There is now a movement on foot to pave Chestnut street from the railroad to Sixth street and the cross street between Crestnut and Elm. It is to be hoped that the authorities can see their way clear to do this work as the town would then have two as good streets as could be found in any city. It has been conceded for a long time that Lumberton was the prettiest and best town of its size to be found and when we get our paved streets all our people should do all in their power to keep the town in every way up to the standard in appearances.

During the coming week Lumberton will lose two highly esteemed families who have decided to make their homes elsewhere. Mr. A. W. Peace will sever his connection with the Bank of Lumberton Tuesday evening and will leave the same night for Fayetteville where he will enter upon his new duties in the Fourth National Bank of that city. Wednesday morning Rev. and Mrs. F. R. Cardwell will leave for Indiana, where they expect to make their future home. Mr. Cardwell has been pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle since the death of Rev. Mr. Weis several months ago. Our people part with both these excellent families with much regret.

The Colonial Comedy Company, which was organized here, made its first appearance in public at the Rowland auditorium Thursday night where it is said to have made a decided hit. The company is composed of professionals, not a single amateur being in the case.

The Seaboard is advertising very attractive excursion rates to Macon, Ga., for the benefit of the old veterans and others who may wish to attend the Confederate Veterans' Reunion in that city May 6th-8th. The round trip from Lumberton is only $7.35 with final limit returning to the 15th. It is expected that quite a number will attend from this section.

The front entrance to the Graded school building should be brilliantly lighted during warm weather, and especially while school is in session when some of the teachers or pupils might find it necessary to go to the building at night. We are told that a few nights ago a monstrous big black snake was seen coming off the porch as though it had been trying to get inside the building.

Another important land deal was made here this week when Dr. W. A. McPhaul purchased from Mr. A. Weinstein a lot 50x166 feet for $2.000. The lot adjoins the one already owned by Dr. McPhaul on which he is at present having erected a handsome nine-room residence. While improvements are going on all over town, North Elm street and Chestnut street seem to try to keep in the lead in constructing elegant homes.

We fear our people did not observe clean-up day as generally as they should. If they did, there was less trash in town than is generally the case. We hope that is true, but we have our doubts. If our people would only unite and determine to drive out the flies, no one can tell how our health conditions—already good—would be improved.

Misses Lillie and Bertha Barker went to Salemburg Wednesday where on next Wednesday they will attend the marriage of their brother, Mr. J. Abner Barker to Miss Florence Butler, of that place.

Mr. A. T. Parmele, county auditor, has requested the list takers of the county to meet at his office in the court house Monday to receive instructions and papers for listing the taxes this year.

We agree with Mr. E. Wheeler Stone in regard to Messrs. McKenzie and Higley, Treasurer and Register of Deeds, respectively. They are good servants. And right here we are reminded of a conversation we heard a few days ago. Several gentlemen were discussing the different offices to be filled and who would be good men for them. The name of Mr. Stone was mentioned as being a good man for the State Senate, and it was the opinion of those present that he might be induced to enter the race, though, of course, it was only a surmise.

A good many old hens are now finding their way to market because they insist on eating the farmers' corn when it begins to come up. Mose of them have served their masters well for a number of years and end their career by being sold for 40 to 50 cents each.

Mrs. Eliza Bass celebrated her 79th birthday last week. Four gentlemen were present on the occasion. She is one of the best preserved women of her age to be found anywhere, and does not wear glasses except when reading. Mrs. Bass says she can see to shoot a gun a well as she ever could, and for many years she has had the reputation of being an expert with the shot gun.

We will venture the assertion that no county in the State has a more beautiful court house and square than Robeson. The beautiful grass and shade trees cause many people to stop and marvel at their beauty. But the court house yard is not the only beautiful place in Lumberton, for the town is full of beautiful homes surrounded by beautiful grounds.

Messrs. Frank Gough, Ed Freeman, Pope Stephens, E. J. Britt and perhaps others from here attended the closing exercises of the St. Paul's school yestercay.

There is in jail here a negro who has been there for six months waiting to be tried in the Federal court charged with selling one pint of whiskey. What will that one pint cost the taxpayers whether the fellow is convicted or not?

Miss Grace Redmond went to Wilmington this morning to attend the dedication service tomorrow. Others went down tonight.

While in conversation with one of the best farmers in the Fairmont section this week, he told us that he was through planting cotton. 125 acres, with good seasons, would gather 500 bushels of corn, including what he would receive from tenants, had 140 acres in tobocco, an abundant supply of bacon and enough money in bank to keep from going in debt. He is no office seeker—hasn't time if he had the inclination.

We have some mighty good friends with whom we can generally agree on most things, but if they could agree with us on one point in particular the dog population in Lumberton would be smaller than it is. We do not pretend to deny the fact that we love a nice dog, but we hear so much of dogs going mad and biting so many people that we are afraid of the whole dog family. We regard the hundreds of children on the streets daily as being in constant danger from mad dogs.

The old steam engine which is used in working on the public roads in this county, has been doing some good work during the week, pulling sand beds south of the railroad to the public roads north of town. Wagons are used instead of cars, as many as nine well loaded being drawn at one time. While this engine is pulling its load along on one street, the eight-ton steam roller is working on another street preparing the way for street paving. Between the two machines quite a crowd of laborers are kept busy.

Mr. A. P. McAllister returned yesterday morning from New York where he had been for several days on business.

Mr. N. C. Hughes, formerly superintendent of the public roads in this county, spent yesterday and today here, and was warmly greeted by a large number of friends.

The many friends of County Auditor Parmele are delighted to see him sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be down town, though he is not yet strong enough to assume the duties of his office regularly.

It does seem that the good people of Lumberton and vicinity should be protected in some way from the bunch of able-bodied beggars who get their living by beating.

Sallom Salleby, an Assyrian, who recently moved here with his family from Dillon, S. C., and engaged in the confectionery business on Chestnut street, has decided to move to Laurinburg, where he has another business. He will retain his stand on the lot which he recently purchased from the Bank of Lumberton and this will be operated by one of his countrymen.

Col. S. A. Edmund, who suffered a stroke of paralysis while attending Sunday School at the First Baptist church two weeks ago, is gradually improving.

What might have been a serious wreck was narrowly averted one and a half miles from town when train No. 45 came from Wilmington this morning. An east bound freight during the night seems to have dislocated the siding at an old saw mill site near the county road crossing. The matter was discovered and reported in time to save trouble.

BAD BLOOD CAUSED ABSCESS.

How Vinol Saved Mrs. Hall.

It took a dangerous and painful experience to prove to Mrs. Hattie Hall that she had let her health run down. In a letter from Schenectady, N. Y., she says: "I was forcibly reminded that my system needed renovating and that my blood was out of order, by the fact that an abscess formed in my side a short time ago and required treatment for several weeks.

"Under the regular use of Vinol to enrich and purify my blood and build up my strength, this was soon healed up and my general health very much improved."

Right now is the very best time of year to put your blood in good order by the use of our delicious cod liver and iron remedy without oil, Vinol. It enriches the blood by adding iron and thus frees it from its impurities.

Vinol is wonderfully strengthening and vitalizing for all who are run-down and weak, and we guarantee it to give perfect satisfaction.—Robt. R. Bellam, Druggist, Wilmington, North Carolina.

Have You An Old Friend Who Drinks Too Much?

MOST of us have some old friend who needs to be saved from his one fatal weakness of inebriety. A man perhaps, whose very brilliance and rapid success were his own undoing. Who has gone from bad to worse—until your former envy has turned to pity. And people say—"he was too good a fellow"—and "he couldn't stand success."

Of course you feel sorry for your old friend. You have too much sympathy and humanity not to help "put him on his feet again" if you only knew a way. Perhaps you have talked to him and tried in vain to appeal to him. Until finally you have given up in despair.

But there is a way to put him on his feet. A way that never fails to succeed. The Keeley treatment that treats inebriety not as a moral question, but as the disease that it is. It builds up new health and takes the old appetite away. And the Keeley treatment means no humiliation, no inconvenience and no great expense.

If you persuade your friend to take the treatment now and advance him the money you will make a new man of him and he can pay you back as he earns it again. And you—you will have the solid satisfaction of helping a friend regain his old prosperity and his self-respect. Write today for booklet.

INTERESTING SPORTS.

May-Day Milk Maids and Chimney Sweeps—At State Normal College.

The ancient Saxons called May "Three Milk Month", because at this season they milked their cows three times daily.

"On the first day of this month we see the ruddy milk maid exerting herself in a sprightly manner under a pyramid of silver tankards, and like the virgin Tarpeia, oppressed by the costly ornaments which her benefactors lay upon her." Those decorations of silver cups, tankards, and salvers were borrowed for the purpose and hung around the milk pails, with the addition of flowers and ribands, which the mandens carried upon their heads when they went to the houses of their customers and danced, in order to obtain a small gratuity from each. Of late years, the plate, with the other decorations, were placed in a pyramidical form and carried by two chairmen, upon a wooden horse. The maidens walked before it and performed the dance without any incumbrance. I really cannot discover what analogy the silver tankards and salvers can have to the business of the milk maids. I have seen them act with more propriety upon this occasion, when in place of these superfluous ornaments they substituted a cow. The animal had her horns gilt, and was nearly covered with ribands of various colors, formed into bows and roses, and interspersed with green oaken leaves and bunches of flowers. (Joseph Strutt "The Sports and Pastimes of the People of England.")

On the first of May the chimney sweeps of London paraded the streets in various disguises, their dresses decorated with gilt paper and other mock fineries. To the music of their rattling shovels and brushes, they jumped about in imitation of dancing. Sometimes they had a fiddler and a Jack-in-the-Green as well as a Lord and a Lady of May. This Jack-in-the-Green was a hollow frame of wicker work, open at the bottom, large and high enough to receive a man. The frame was covered with leaves and flowers, so that the man could see without being seen. He danced with his companions and the odd spectacle of the living dancing pyramid convulsed the populace.

Long after all other May sports ceased to be common, the festival of the chimney sweeps remained.

..Theatrical..

The Academy of Music brought the first week of its stock engagement to a close last night, and the first week can truthfully be said to have been a highly successful one. The patronage increased nightly, the audiences of Friday and last night being the largest of the week. So the Academy management feels highly flattered at the fine start and will enter upon the second week with increased zeal. The second week will be inaugurated tomorrow night, when a splendid comedy drama, "The Duke's Daughter", will be offered the amusement public and it is said to be one of the swellest bills in the company's repertoire. It is a play strong in dramatic action, possessing a plot of deep heart interest, and its comedy is of the bright and snappy kind. It is also a very dressy play, which will especially appeal to the ladies. In connection with the play will be presented three reels of the very latest moving pictures, and this part of each performance is making a big hit, because it means that two performances are really furnished. The pictures are changed every night and the play every other night. The orchestra, which is also a great feature, will have new numbers for tomorrow night.

The same low prices, 10 and 20 cents, will continue to prevail for the engagement, while the matinee prices will still remain at 5 and 10 cents. The next matinee wil be the mid-week event. Wednesday afternoon.

New Week Grand Theatre.

The Grand Theatre will open the new week with one of the best bills of the season tomorrow and capacity business should be the rule. The noted Vitagraph picture, "Selecting His Heiress" will perhaps be the topliner. This is a tip-top comedy swelling one's bosom with laughter and mirth. "Bunny," the irresistible, will be seen and that's enough said to those who have seen this incomparable character in the past. "The Remittance Man" is another good comedy, while still a third will be a first-class Essanay, "Alkali Ike's Boarding House," the great Western comedy in which one of the bright characters is Bridget, the cook. These films are the very finest that have ever been witnessed at the Grand and the management is especially anxious that as many patrons as possible attend the Monday performances. The Grand is always delightfully cool and pleasant and the ideal place to stop down town when in search of rest and recreation.

CLEMENT GRADED SCHOOL

Commencement Exercises During Past Week—Programme

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wallace, N. C., April 27.—The commencement exercises of the Clement graded school began on Sunday, April 21st, with the baccalaureate sermon preached by Rev. W. P. M. Currie, of the Presbyterian church.

On Tuesday evening following the programme was rendered by the primary grades in the Sloan Hall, which was very interesting. The children showed excellent training, all proving a credit to their teachers, Mrs. J. E. Down, Mrs. LaFayette Southerland Misses Anna Clement and Susie Boney.

Miss Madge Southerland has had charge of the music department for two years, and met with her usual success.

Wednesday evening the closing exercises were held which were in every way a success. First on the programme was the following recitation contest:

"Drifted Out to Sea," Ethel May Boney; "Kiss Me Good Night," Myrtle Cavenaugh; "Election of the Future," Bertha Fussell; "Papa's Letter," Jessie Rose; "Kindergarten Tot," Esther Ward; "The First Spat," Mary Virginia Bryant; "John Hardin," Laney Carter; "Leap Year Mishap," Cora Lee Pickett; "The Gypsy Flower Girl," Ellen Boney; "Goodnight Papa," Lillian Bryant; "How Reuben Played," Mabel Carr; "The Gambler's Wife," Louis Southerland; "Nobody's Child," Lucile Dowd.

Every recitation being so well rendered it was difficult for the judges, Mrs. P. E. Shaw, of Teachey; Miss Charlie Westbrook, of Wallace, and Dr. J. G. Murphy, of Wilmington, to reach a decision. However, after consideration the medal was awarded Miss Mabel Carr, the presentation being made by Dr. Murphy.

Next were two instrumental duets by Misses Madge Southerland and Anna Johnson, Misses Anna Clement and Southerland. This was followed by our townsmen, Mr. Geo. R. Ward, who in his ever pleasant and humorous manner introduced the speaker, Mr. W. P. Stacy, the matchless young lawyer of Wilmington, who delivered the annual address. It was a pleasure to all present to hear such a masterpiece of oratory, and he was hailed the second Aycock.

This closed the most successful year of the graded school. It was under the splendid management of Prof. J. E. Dowd, who has done a work of which we are all proud. And we feel we have been exceedingly fortunate in having had him at the head of our school for the past two years. For Prof. Dowd has proven himself to be that type of man who regardless of himself is ever alert to the interest of his pupils.

SPRING TONICS.

Are not the products of superstition. Like most old customs, there is sound scientific reason underneath.

"That tired feeling" is simply poisoning of the brain and nerves by toxins carried to them in the blood. Spring is nature's time for renewing everything—it is time to purify and renew your blood.

Get your blood right—that is all the tonic you need. There is just one blood preparation that will give you this triple guarantee: Guaranteed to benefit or money refunded: Guaranteed to contain no alcohol: Guaranteed under the pure food law. No dangerous drugs of any sort. The name is MILAM. Buy six bottles for $5.00—your money back if not benefitted. Ask your druggist.

Baby's Advantage.

A baby is tolerably helpless, but he has one advantage—he doesn't have to listen to the foolishness grown men talk to him unless he wants to.

LESS NOISE MORE SAFETY.

Newark Adopts Law to Restrain Misusers of Auto Horns.

Newark, N. J., April 27.—Under the new traffic ordinance just passed by the City Council, the automobilist who misuses his warning signal is made guilty of a misdemeanor, and liable to a fine.

This requires that every automobile shall be equipped with an adequate signal and defines such a signal as one producing an "abrupt note, sufficiently loud to be heard under all conditions of traffic"; but restricts its use to times when it is "necessary as a warning of danger."

The ordinance is the outcome of a consistent attempt to obviate the needless noise evil and at the same time to increase the safety of the streets. Not only has the careless and indiscriminate use of automabile signals been a source of much annoyance from the standpoint of noise, but it has been pointed out that such misuse materially lessens their effectiveness when necessary in their true function as means of warning. The restraining measure has the sanction of all reasonable motorists as well as the general public.

New Jersey has long been the battle-ground for automobile legislation, much of which has been sharply criticised by national motoring interests. The new law, following as it does close upon the passage of the State law prohibiting the use in towns and cities of the muffler cut-out and the enactment of the New Jersey reciprocity bill, puts the State well in line for reasonable and progressive legislation of the better kind.

The new law just enacted by the State of Maryland contains provisions similar to the Newark measure, as do the traffic ordinances recently adopted by Chicago and St. Louis. The enforcement of the ordinance in these two cities is said to have measurably decreased the amount of unnecessary noise and the number of accidents and to have made chauffeurs more careful and considerate in the operation of their cars. It is confidently hoped that the same good results will be obtained in Newark.

Washington, Philadelphia and Milwaukee, and several other towns, are at present considering the enactment of similar measures; as is also the State of Massachusetts. The working results of the new law in Newark will be watched with interest throughout the country generally.

COST OF BUILDING CREAMERY

Some Interesting Information By U. S. Department of Agriculture

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., April 27.—During the past few years a larger number of creameries have been built in the United States. Many of them have been successful from the start, while others have failed after a few months' operation, and some were never even started.

An investigation of the creamery business in several States by Secretary Wilson, of the United States Department of Agriculture has shown that the cause of many of the failures was due to lack of a sufficient number of cows, which should be not less than 400, and that others failed because of improper organization, in the case of co-operative creameries, and excessive cost of building and equipment. Many creameries have cost twice their actual worth, and were not of the type suited to the locality in which they were built.

The cost of a creamery building about 28x48 feet will vary from $1,000 to $1,800, dependent upon the locality, the construction, and the cost of material and labor. Such a building usually consists of a main work room, engine and boiler room (including space for refrigerating machine), coal room, refrigerator, storeroom and office.

Machinery for a gathered-cream plant, consisting of 15-horsepower boiler, 10-horsepower engine, combination churn with a capacity of 600 pounds of butter, and other necessary apparatus, will cost approximately $1,200. Machinery for a whole-milk plant will cost about $1,850. This equipment will handle from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds of butter per day. If a refrigerating machine is included the cost will be from $600 to $1,000 more.

The total cost of a creamery would therefore, vary from $2,200 for a small gathered-cream plant without artificial refrigeration, where labor and material are cheap, to $4,650 for a whole milk plant including artificial refrigeration and a higher cost of labor and material.

The Department of Agriculture is prepared to furnish information for the proper organization of creameries and cheese factories, and upon request will supply plan of organization, list of machinery, and plan for creamery. Correspondence should be addressed to the Bureau of Animal Industry, of Washington, D. C.

IN MEMORY OF CLARA BARTON.

Blest ages of Eternity,
How canst Thou seem so glad.
When all the breezes sigh for her,
And all the world is sad?

Ah! We can read thine answer true,
We need not ask it o'er,
The bright gleams of the starlight's glow,
Paint—"New Life" evermore.

But O! That tiny Emblem dear,
The little "Cross" of fame,
A "Gem" within the shadows gloom,
A "Gem" of "Hallowed Name."

In the wildwood blooms the daisy,
The brightest of April flower,
In December blooms the holly,
The "Red Cross" every hour.

If you wish to mislead a wayfaring man, change or turn the guidepost along the roads which he is following. If you do not mislead him, you will at least mystify him greatly and delay his progress. Those who are tampering with the Bible just now are "turning the guide posts." Many souls have already been misled by them, and many more have been greatly bewildered. Those who tamper with the Word will have a fearful account to give. For all their mellifluous speech and honeyed words, it will yet be found that there is a bitter taste that will at last be left.

SPRING SANITATION.

Seasonal Hints for a Healthy Spring and Summer.

Spring time is pre-eminently the "cleaning up season." Every home has accumulations of rubbish and filth at the close of Winter. Clean it up. Then keep it clean. These accumulations of trash and filth serve no useful purpose. On the other hand, they may serve directly or indirectly to promote disease. Remember, you will have no flies this Summer unless your immediate surroundings furnish them breeding places. Remember also that the number of flies in and about your house is a telltale on you. We now know that homes with few or no flies are invariably clean homes, while an abundance of flies is a sure sign of nearby filth. We also know that these dirty homes are dangerous homes. They are dangerous because of the easy transition from filth, through flies, to disease. Note that flies are the connecting link, and to avoid the first is to avoid all three.

Put up your fly and mosquito screens early. See that they are all fly-tight and mosquito proof. Inside the house use sticky fly paper and arm the small boy or girl with ten-cent wire fly swatters. Competition is a great thing where there are two or more children.

In cleaning up don't forget the mosquito. He is a tiny pest to say the least, but his little bite may give you malarial chills and fevers that will last you weeks and months. It is easy to prevent mosquitoes. They breed along the edge of stagnant water, in pools, ponds, tin cans, broken crockery, barrels, tin spouting, etc. Destroy or remove the tin cans and other vessels, repair the spouting, and drain the swamps and pools. If for any reason any stagnant water can not be drained, pour coal oil on the surface at the rate of one-half pint per hundred square feet. Reapply the coal oil every ten days. If this is not practical, thoroughly stock the pond with fish and minnows. They will consume a large quantity of the mosquito eggs. If this is impractical, screen the water in question. As a final safeguard, carefully screen every door and window with fine screen. A wire screen having 12 meshes to the inch will keep flies out, but to successfully exclude mosquitoes use a screen having 18 meshes to the inch. Good health and comfort for the Summer are the reward for such timely vigilance and diligence in cleaning up, while disease and possibly death may be the punishment for the slothful.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Original French Blend

FRENCH Market Coffee is the identical old French blend, brought to New Orleans by immigrants from Paris over a hundred years ago. Tourists and travelers know it. They rarely fail to visit the old French Market, when in New Orleans, to drink cup after cup of the marvelous coffee that has made the French Market world-famous.

Until the establishment of the French Market Mills and the perfecting of the new, air-tight, hermetically-sealed package, genuine French Market Coffee could be had nowhere else.

But now we are able to place this historic blend—this delicious French coffee, in your grocer's hands, ready for your instant call.

Unlike Ordinary Coffees

WE import direct in original bags the famous Pan-American coffees, including the famous Blue Mountain Coffee of Jamaica, the choice of Guatemala, Caracas and Bogota.

This comes in ships, through warm summer seas. No cold climates affect, injuriously, the delicate coffee beans. The very choicest product, the fine private-estate grown coffee, is bought by the French Market Mills.

These fine coffees are correctly combined in exactly the right blend and proportion.

It takes almost twice as long to roast French Market Coffee as it does ordinary coffee.

Yet all the flavor and aroma—all the refreshing and stimulating qualities of the coffee—are retained and intensified.

Packed in Air-Tight Tins

THUS we deliver to your grocer genuine French Market Coffee—this coffee like you get in Paris or Vienna—in all its freshness and unequaled flavor.

Beware of Imitations

YOU will be offered "French" coffee stated to be "The same as French Market Coffee." You must be careful to see that the picture of the old French Market, with the name "French Market Coffee," is on the label.

This is the only genuine French Market Coffee.

Try it once and you'll agree "There is only one real old French Market flavor."

CONDITIONS UNBEARABLE.

Mining Engineer Believes Intervention in Mexico Will be Necessary.

New Orleans, April 26.—Declaring that since President Taft issued his recent proclamation to Americans in Mexico, life for Americans in all parts of that republic had become unbearable, Clement Quion, owner of the Julia Carlisle mines in Chihuahua, arrived here today and asserted conditions below the Rio Grande are so serious that nothing can prevent the intervention of the American government within 60 days.

Mr. Guion declared that the manner in which American citizens have been left to the mercy of bandits in Mexico "is little short of a crime." In Chihuahua he said, 70 per cent. of the Americans had left and the other 30 per cent. remain there simply because they cannot leave.

Mr. Guion is a mining engineer of New York and formerly was a lieutenant in the United States navy. His father, he said, was president of the United States Mail Steamship Company, of New York.

More than 2,000 bales more of cotton have been sold on the Raleigh market this year than on last year. The effort between the farmers and merchants to make the city a better cotton market has been a successful one and the city is now attracting more cotton than ever. The city needs now, a central cotton platform and one should be provided by next season. Since the destruction of the Southern platform to make way for permanent improvements, the arrangements for weighing have been very unsatisfactory. It is understood, of course, that they are only temporary and the best that could be done to meet an emergency, but in order to make sure that everything will be in shape for next season steps should be taken early.—Raleigh Times.

For The Nervous Woman,

Or the woman who experiences hot flashes nothing is so good to soothe, quiet and calm the nervous system as a pure glyceric extract of native medical plants, and made without alcohol, which has been sold by druggists for the past forty years, and most favorably known as Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In younger years some women suffer from dizziness, or fainting spells, hysteria, headache, bearing-down feelings and pain. All these symptoms of irregularity and female disturbance are relieved by the use of this famous "Prescription" of Doctor Pierce.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system, and in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. For over-worked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, it is an excellent appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

MRS. MCDONALD.

"My disease was called retroversion," writes MRS. LYDIA MCDONALD, of Mecosta, Mich., Route 1. "I had nervous chills and numb spells and they would leave me very weak. Then I had inflammation and the doctor said I had a floating kidney. I doctored seven months with our family physician. He said I would have to have an operation. Then I stopped taking his medicine. After taking three bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicines I have not had any nervous chills or weak spells. I am better than for years.

"My daughter is now taking the 'Prescription' and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, also the 'Pellets' for nervousness and weak, tired feeling. These remedies have helped her ever so much in a short time. We have great faith in your medicines for female troubles."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets induce mild natural bowel movement.

AN EXAMPLE OF FINE FARMING

What Mr. H. A. Rau Has Accomplished In A Concrete Way at Castle Haynes, N. C.—Some Crop Yields

(Special Star Correspondence.)

In line with the excellent editorials appearing in your paper recently regarding opportunities in farming in and around our immediate section, is the example of Mr. H. A. Rau at Castle Haynes. Just eight miles from Wilmington on the Atlantic Coast Line. Mr. Rau's farm is on the site of the old rock quarry at Castle Haynes. A more hopeless chance for making a farm could hardly be imagined than this was when he bought it a couple of years ago.

It was nothing but gullies, with scarcely a level foot of ground on the place. To date, five two-horse shovels have been worn out by Mr. Rau in leveling off a few acres in order to be able to plant at all. There are mighty few who would have tackled the job in the first place and fewer still who would have had the perserverance to have stayed with it and literally forced success from apparently impossible conditions. As I looked at the place and began to realize what had been done, I couldn't help putting the question to him as to why on earth he would ever try to make a farm on such a place. His answer was characteristic of the man and showed the underlying strength and determination that must have dominated him. He said, "I have a mania for making something out of nothing," and I think we can all agree that he shall have the palm on that score.

There is not, within a radius of 50 miles of Wilmington, as uninviting a proposition for a farmer starting in as Mr. Rau had to tackle. Good level land is the rule rather than the exception. Mr. Rau has not made a fortune, as it is understood in this day and age, but he has made a success of his work and his place is a monument to his ability. In the light of these facts, a history of his success ought to be an inspiration to all who have an ambition to succeed, and especially to those in the section who, at the suggestion of the editor of the Star, desire the opportunity to make a living from the land.

Mr. Rau bought the old stone quarry site with the intention of growing forage crops and stock, but, knowing of the possibilities of making money in lettuce, decided he would grow some. This decision meant more than just manuring the land and setting out the plants. It meant tearing down hills and filling gullies before he could ever get land enough to start his plants. The details of the work in doing this are interesting, but can readily be imagined. The proof of the success is in the results.

This season he has grown two acres of lettuce. One acre under cloth and one acre in the open. Up to April 12th he had shipped and gotten returns from ten frames covering just one-half acre of ground. His gross receipts from this half acre to date are $1,759.40, and the itemized expense for this one-half acre, is as follows: $47 depreciation on equipment, which is figured to last five years. $156.70 was the actual expense in growing the lettuce and includes labor, fertilizer, seed and incidentals. The express charges, getting the lettuce to market, $227.25. Cost of baskets, $42.92 and cost of cutting, packing and hauling to station $25.25; making a total expense of $409.12, and leaving a net profit of $1,260.28 for the one-half acre. To offset part of the expense Mr. Rau has a beautiful crop of beans coming on in the frames and, with ordinary success, these will bring his net profit on this one-half acre up to at least $1,400. Should this half acre be all he had, his income would be equal to that of most clerks and office men, but he still has one and one-half acres of beautiful lettuce to cut and ship, besides there are three or four acres of peas and beans coming on.

Mr. Rau's few acres of made land are going to give him a profit this year equal to an income of one hundred dollars per week or $16.50 per day for every working day of the year. But Mr. Rau doesn't work all year. By the end of June all his crops will have been shipped and his land planted in cowpeas. For three months he and his family will take a trip, while his lands are growing humus for next Spring's crops.

Talk of opportunity. If Mr. Rau with limited means can do what he has done under such adverse conditions, what are the possibilities of our hundreds of thousands of acres of naturally rich lands?

It is not to be answered, of course, that everyone can jump in and duplicate Mr. Rau's success at the start. Mr. Rau has had some experience and his results were attained by careful and painstaking methods, but he is still a young man and the success he has made can be duplicated by those who will give the same amount of thought and effort to the work and make a study, as he has made, of his crops and of market conditions.

The conditions in our section are all one could ask for. Our soils are perfect trucking soils, and our climate gives us a long season to practically monopolize the Northern markets, our rainfall is the best in the country and the buyers are here to insure the highest market prices.

Mr. Rau is taking advantage of these conditions, has supplemented them with ingenuity, good judgment, business ability and hard work.

His ingenuity showed itself when he found that his lettuce growing was to be reduced to a very small acreage on a lack of stable manure. This led him to experimenting with muck from the bed of the creek at the back of his place, and he found that he could use this to as good advantage as the manure. His crop of lettuce this year was grown without manure, and he now speaks of the creek bed as being his gold mine. How many farmers in this section have gold mines, in the shape of swamps, that are not returning a dollar of income ao year?

Unlike most farmers, Mr. Rau keeps a complete and accurate set of books and knows at all times just where he stands. The figures on his lettuce this year are not guess work, but are accurate to the cent.

The most striking thing on the place to me was the orderly arrangement of all his tools and tool parts. Every little part had its place and was in its place. The walls of his barn were covered with hand tools, rakes, cultivator parts, etc., and whenever a tool has been used, before it is put up it is rubbed clean of all dirt and greased with axle grease.

In packing his lettuce Mr. Rau uses the utmost care and, in consequence, his sales have topped the market every day. In some instances he has secured 25 cents and even 50 cents a basket above all others.

In analyzing the success in this instance it is hard to tell how much of it is due to natural conditions, of climate, soil, transportation, etc., and how much to ability, and good methods. His operation shows though what a combination of these things will do.

Those who consider growing lettuce or doing farming of any kind would be well repaid for a trip to Mr. Rau's place. The things that have made success for him will do it for another and his operation should open the eyes of all of us to the possibilities we may be overlooking.

PISTOL-CARRYING HABIT

Ways and Means of Disarming Gun-Toting "Crook."

New York, N. Y., April 27.—One of the most serious problems confronting the people of the United States is the enactment of adequate laws to check crimes of violence that annually disgrace the records of this country. At first sight nothing looks simpler. A law rigidly restricting the sale of weapons and the license to carry these would seem all that is necessary, but, as proved by recent experience in the State of New York, laws based on this principle result in disarming the law-abiding citizen without in the least affecting criminals who have scores of under-handed means of obtaining weapons and who welcome with open arms any law that will insure them defenceless victims.

Other States besides New York have sought to devise laws to prevent gun-toting by criminal and irresponsible people, but each attempt to deter the respectable citizen from arming himself has proved the fallacy of the theory that the thug and the crook can be legislated out of business by so frail a ruse as making it difficult for him to buy arms in the open market.

There should be no difficulty in devising an effective "bullet-proof" revolver law if the subject is first dissected in the light of reason. Were it possible by due process of the law to arm every law-abiding citizen with a pistol and to compel him to learn to shoot straight with it, and were it possible at the same time to disarm every thug and criminal, crimes of violence would be unheard of. This stands to reason, and standing to reason, no law at variance with this principle can be a good law. The revolver law needed is one which, on the one hand, will encourage the arming of respectable citizens and, on the other, will make gun-toting so hazardous for the criminal that he will gladly disarm himself. Enact a law that will provide—

First: That the act of carrying firearms or other weapons while committing or attempting to commit a crime be regarded as attempt to commit murder, punishable with not less than fifteen years imprisonment; this sentence to be made mandatory on the part of the courts.

Second: That license or no license, no person ever convicted of burglary or any other crime of violence may carry firearms or other weapons under penalty of not less than five years imprisonment; this sentence to be made mandatory on the part of the courts.

Given a law of this sort and the homicide problem will take care of itself.

As for the law-abiding citizen, he is not the one in need of being disarmed. He is to all intents and purposes a member of the police. Deterring him from arming himself is as sound in theory as it would be to disarm the police itself. Permit him to retain weapons of self-defense for home protection without further restrictions than to sign his name and address in a dealer's register, open to police inspection. License him to carry revolvers when he can prove that he has sufficient reason to arm himself. A community of armed, respectable citizens is the strongest adjunct to the police.

PAY YOUR POLL TAX.

There are many who have failed to pay their poll tax and if this important matter is not attended to by May 1st, they are disfranchised. A failure to comply with this law robs you of the priceless right of participating in the American form of government and no man should allow the small sum of two dollars to deprive him of his suffrage, his rights and his manhood.

BROUGHT TO LIGHT

Wilmington People Receiving the Full Benefit.

There have been many cases like the following in Wilmington. Everyone relates the experience of people we know. These plain, straightforward statements will do much toward relieving the suffering of thousands. Such testmony will be read with interest by many people.

Mrs. M. E. Bordeax, 510 S. Second St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "I willingly verify my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. During the past two and one-half years, I have used this remedy occasionally and it has always brought the very best results." (Statement given on December 27, 1910.)

The endorsement referred to by Mrs. Bordeax was in substance as follows: "I suffered from dull pains in the small of my back and some days I could hardly get about to attend to my housework. I had a kidney weakness that caused me great annoyance and I knew that a kidney medicine was needed. When I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, I at once got a supply at Bellamy's Drug Store and they restored me to good health. Another member of my family has also taken Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit."

an opinion to the effect that most of the women "didn't know nothing" about marketing, and that until they had acquired this knowledge their efforts would not prove effective. He added one woman who wanted some veal cutlets expressed a desire to see a whole veal, and was much disappointed when she found that it did not resemble a seal, to which she had always supposed it to be closely related. New York is still trying to determine the economic value of the auto in reducing the cost of living.

The law and not the physician may yet become the final factor here in deciding whether or not an illness or disease is curable, as the result of a unique situation which, if carried to its logical conclusion, may make it necessary for an ailing person in search of a cure to consult a statute book instead of a doctor. This strange state of affairs has been brought about as the result of an extradition writ issued by a neighboring State to compel a practitioner of this city to stand trial on the charge of receiving money under false pretenses. The facts in the case show that one of the city's best known physicians, who has been prominently identified with a number of its medical institutions rendered a bill for twelve dollars for his treatment for the disease known as hydrocephalus, or water on the brain, of a boy in New Jersey. The doctor says physicians now recognize that this disease is in some cases curable by medical treatment, while the indictment says that it is incurable except by surgery. As the doctor in question did not attempt the latter method, the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses is made. Should the State win its case a curious situation would arise under which it might be called upon to codify all diseases with the proper treatment for each, for physicians might be slow to undertake treatment if such an act, through conflict with the views of the authorities, might lead to indictment and punishment. A legal code of all diseases and their proper treatments would undoubtedly be a remarkable work, and the picture of the authorities prescribing castor oil for juvenile stomach ache is no less wonderful than would be the predicament of a physician who at a critical moment happened to have misplaced his code book.

By a curious coincidence, it is pointed out here that at no time since the death of those two famous citizens of early New York, Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr, has a national situation existed which, could they return to this city, would so greatly appeal to both, antagonistic as they were. Hamilton, the great Federalist and specialist on foreign relations, would undoubtedly find delicate problems such as he loved to handle, in the Mexican situation and the Magdalena Bay incident, to mention only two. Burr, with his dreams of other empires, might now well cast longing eyes on some of our territorial possessions. That the present situation is peculiarly one from which his fertile imagination might conjure all sorts of dangerous possibilities, was shown by the arrival here this week of a delegation of representatives of the island of Porto Rico, including members of the Porto Rican Legislature, who were on their way to Washington to protest against the reduction of the existing tariff on sugar, as has been proposed by Congress. The committee, which was headed by Dr. Rafael del Valle, a member of the executive council of the island, points out that sugar growing has become one of the chief industries of Porto Rico since the American occupation, and that high wages and standards of living approaching those of the United States are coming to be adopted. They insist that they regard themselves as loyal Americans and that they cannot understand why the government that has fostered their industries heretofore is now preparing to throw them back into the conditions that prevailed under Spanish sovereignty. Similar protests are being received from Hawaii and the Philippines, and the members of Congress apparently will have considerable difficulty in making cellar to those recently acquired citizens the mysteries of American tariff making. A modern day setting more to Burr's liking can hardly be imagined.

Cops de Luxe, a variety hitherto unknown, capable either of chasing crooks or furnishing exhaustive information to feminine bargain hunters, and calculated to make the ordinary policeman turn green with envy, are soon to grace Fifth Avenues, according to the plans of merchants whose establishments line both sides of that famous thoroughfare. For some time complaints have been common that the famous street of millionaires has become a favorite hunting ground for all sorts of pan-handlers. Accordingly, Fifth Avenue's merchants now propose to introduce guardians of their own, imposing physical and sartorial requirements which will make them the observed of all observers. As a start, it is planned to put eight men on duty in the Fifth Avenue business section. Two of them will be plain clothes men in a technical sense at least, though whether they will be clothed in in frock coats and silk hats is not yet announced. The other six, however, will be uniformed in gorgeous style, resembling somewhat the London "bobby," and somewhat the Prussian grenadier. Each member of the new ultra exclusive force will be of herculean build and clad according to present suggestions in a blue uniform with crimson or gold facings. Not only will they be expected to detect and banish all crooks, but to be walking encyclopedias of the knowledge dear to the feminine shopper. Altogether, their advent will set a new standard in the police service not only for New York, but the whole country as well.

The most partisan Roosevelt believer yet discovered—and that, according to the friends of the colonel, is something of a title—has just been put on record here in the person of one Dominick Pasquale, a lately arrived son of Italy, who evidently believes that the sage of Oyster Bay is practically the United States, and several other things besides. Pasquale was one of one hundred applicants appearing before Supreme Court Justice Kapper here seeking naturalization papers. "Who is Governor of this State?" Pasquale was asked. "Roosevelt," he said in reply. "Who is President of the United States?" "Roosevelt," returned the Italian would-be citizen. "Who makes up the Congress of the United States?" was the next question. "Roosevelt," replied Pasquale. 'If the present President should die who would succeed him?" "Roosevelt." "In fact, Roosevelt is the whole thing — Governor, Mayor, President, Congress, the Constitution, according to your notion, isn't he?" Pasquale bowed his assent. Dominick was ordered admitted, but whether because of or in spite of his answers is not known. —LONGACRE.

SPEED OF ELECTRICITY

One Hundred and Eighty Miles An Hour In Machinery

New York, April 27.—The immense inertia which is overcome and the speed which has been developed in electricity driven machinery of recent years is almost inconceivable. One instance of these two feats which stands out in that of the reversing motor drive for large plate mill installed by the Crocker-Wheeler Company last year in the Works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Co., at Gary Ind. The Weight of the revolving parts of the reversing motor is about 100,000 pounds, and it is ten feet in diameter. The reversing of this motor and of the rolls from fourteen revolutions per minute in one direction to fourteen revolutions per minute in the other is accomplished in the amazingly short time of nine-tenths of a second. This means that this electrically? driven mill reverses more quickly than any other of its class. Thus a point on the face travels in one minute a distance of 15,708 feet or practically at a rate bf 190 miles an hour. Power for operating this reversing motor is supplied by a motor generator set having a 60,000-pound steel fly wheel ten feet in diameter running at 500 revolutions per minute.

The wisdom of the Ages has produced no other remedy to equal

S.S.S. for the BLOOD

There have been many new "blood remedies" placed upon the market since S. S. S. came into existence more than forty years ago. A great many of these were "fads" for a short period, some were introduced as "miraculous wonder workers," while others claimed to have the endorsement of the scientific world. But they failed in the real test and were unable to accomplish results credited to them, so one by one they have passed out of existence.

How different is the record of S. S. S.; this medicine has succeeded because it possesses merit; it cures blood diseases because it is a real blood purifier, composed of the most active and reliable ingredients. The length of time S. S. S. has been on the market, and the fact that more of it is manufactured and sold each succeding year, proves its genuine worth beyond question.

S. S. S. is especially successful in the treatment of that peculiar blood disease so dreaded by humanity because of its stubborn nature and distressing symptoms. So intense is the virus of this trouble that it quickly permeates the entire blood supply, and usually produces such symptoms as ulcerated mouth and throat, brown splotches on the skin, gradual loss of hair, pains in the limbs, skin eruptions, etc. S. S. S. has cured many thousands of the most aggravated cases; and it always cures permanently. It goes down into the blood and removes all germs, virus and poisons, and one who has been cured by the use of S. S. S. need not fear any future breaking out of the malady.

No other medicine acts with such satisfactory results in these cases as S. S. S. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, each of which possesses blood purifying and tonic properties. This medicine takes hold of the disease at once by going directly into the circulation, and beginning the necessary work of driving the powerful virus from the blood. S. S. S. is thorough in its service; it leaves no trace of the old trouble, and when it cures, the blood is in perfect condition. S. S. S. may be used with absolute safety; it will not unpleasantly affect the stomach, bowels, or any other portion of the system. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers and it cures because of this fact. If you are afflicted with this disease do not waste valuable time with experimental medicines, but write for our Instructive Treatment book and let us send you an abundance of proof that S. S. S. is the remedy most certain to cure you. No charge for the book or any special medical advice that may be desired. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

The owner of the new Moon "40," with men passengers, is eager to explain that his car has the T-head long-stroke motor—120-inch wheel base (really 121 inches)—demountable rims—36x4-inch tires—oversized transmission, rear axle and steering gear, typical of cars selling for $1,000 more than the Moon price, $1,800.

But when women are riding in a Moon, it's an extra pleasure for the owner to note their admiration of The Character Car's stylish, classy lines—its 10-inch upholstery—its all-metal black and nickel finished body—its provisions for little comforts, even gasoline gauges and glove of goggle boxes. A postal to our office, or to the Moon Motor Car Company, St. Louis, Mo., will bring you the 1912 Moon Catalog and the famous Moon Book of Charts.

REPUBLIC STAGGARD TREAD TIRES

will not skid. The six rows of solid rubber studs resist any motion at a tangent from the straight course. They grip muddy roads and wet pavements, doing away with the extra cost and trouble of chains and other anti-skid devices.

Tire Service

Republic Staggard Tread Tires give twice the service of the ordinary tire, because the solid rubber studs give an extra heavy wearing surface.

Our Free Booklet

entitled "The Tire Perfect" contains much valuable information on the use and selection of tires. Sent Free
